Craft Lands On Moon, Relays Pictures

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Surveyor 1, defying longshot odds against a first-try success, televised earthward today striking photos of the lunar landscape after a seemingly perfect gentle landing on the moon.

The pictures indicated to scientific viewers at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory that the Sea of Storms target area has a relatively smooth, hard surface apparently suitable as a possible descent point for future astronauts.

The successful touch-down, executed precisely as programmed, was viewed as a long stride forward for the United States Apollo lunar exploration program. Surveyor's rocket braking system is similar to that on the craft astronauts will use for a landing later in the decade.

A picture series beginning at 5:45 a.m. EDT, using a different TV screen system than that of two earlier batches, showed a broad plain devoid of major features, peppered with either pebbles or pits caused by meteorites. There were several small prominences, and some gouging, as if the surface had been struck by objects from space at an angle.

The pictures showed no damage to the spidery, instrument-jammed, craft 10 feet high and 14 feet in diameter. They showed its feet resting atop the crust — important evidence in view of opinions of some scientists that the surface might be deep dust or spongy lava that could swallow a landing vehicle.

The 620-pound Surveyor planted its three legs firmly on the lunar crust at 2:17:37 a.m. EDT, 63 hours and a quarter-million miles after its launch Monday from Cape Kennedy.

A laboratory spokesman said after viewing the first 144 pictures — received at the Goldstone tracking station on the desert to the east and relayed here — that the landing was firm enough, however, to cause one foot to make a slight contact depression.

Long Stride For Apollo Program

A shadow around the edge of one of the two feet within range of the camera indicated the depression was quite shallow — perhaps two inches, the spokesman said.

The camera was shut down when the earth's rotation blocked signals to Goldstone and officials said no further pictures were expected until 11:30 p.m. when Goldstone again is in position to receive. Tracking stations at Canberra, Madrid and Johannesburg were to make engineering checks with surveyor.

Its crucial terminal sequence — a cartwheel in space to point its feet moonward, then at 60 miles out a blast from its powerful retro-rocket engine to slow to landing speed of 8 m.p.h. — ended with all instruments apparently functioning.

Thirty-five minutes later, it began televising pictures sent nationwide and overseas by three networks, employing the Early Bird satellite.

The first batch of three showed a leg and other portions, with the lunar surface in the background.

There was nothing to hint of danger to future manned landing craft.

A second batch of 10 showed more distant terrain — flat and featureless, except for a shadow, apparently that of the spacecraft, in the shape of a three, and what appeared to be a large rock.

The first two series, televised with 200 scan lines compared to 525 for a home screen, were dim and fuzzy and difficult to interpret.

Later shots with 600 scan lines — Surveyor is expected to return hundreds before the chill of the lunar night ends its life 12 days hence — were far clearer.

The third sequence of about 30 better quality pictures — though some of these were fuzzy, too — were flashed on a TV screen for brief periods less than a minute apart. They were made as the camera, mounted vertically on Surveyor's frame, swiveled about.

They gave further views of parts of the spacecraft, and looked anew at the large rock pictured earlier. "Large" is relative. It appeared no larger than 8 to 10 inches across. Long shots looking out over the landscape added no new details.

Further transmissions continued at intervals into the day — a bewildering variety of close and long shots of Surveyor and its new neighborhood.

Pictures blinked onto the laboratory's viewing screen at three-second intervals, affording just flash views to viewers.

Additional shots toward the foot of the craft showed surface areas that appeared soft and fuzzy, others that appeared almost like dry mud with cracks. Still others that seemed littered with fine debris having sharp edges. In one a white spot showing on the horizon was explained as sun glare on the camera lens.

All pictures in addition to being televised were recorded on tape and film. Photographic prints available later were expected to be considerably sharper than the TV versions.

Some shots were expected to be better in quality, experts say, than the nine pictures sent back by the Soviet Union's Luna 9 last Feb. 3.

Surveyor's feat was regarded as a significant advance over Luna 9, which finally scored after at least four failures. The Soviet craft was a 200-pound shock resistant ball containing a camera.

It apparently was ejected several hundred feet above the surface from a carrier vehicle equipped with small retro-rockets. U.S. scientists said its impact probably would kill a man.

Surveyor's main rocket and three guidance rockets slowed its 620 pounds to an estimated 8 miles per hour, then it dropped 14 feet to the surface. Shock absorbers and crushable pads cushioned it. Experts said it apparently was stable all the way down as it balanced on a tongue of flame.

So perfect was the guidance that the landing was within feet of the predicted impact point in the Sea of Storms, a broad dry plain near the western edge of the face of the moon, just south of the lunar equator. It is one of several areas considered as Apollo descent points.

The first picture showed a leg and foot on the soil, snapped as the camera pointed downward in self-examination. The second showed an antenna and beyond that the more distant surface. The third showed a leg, in better focus, resting entirely atop the crust.

The second sequence showed an antenna boom and part of the aluminum tubing frame. Then followed others showing a murky landscape, dim and fuzzy, and the surface looking gravelly. Some shots showed a distant horizon, with no major features.

Flight Slated Friday

Experts Predict Gemini Success

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Dramatically successful with five unmanned Surveyor moonships, but seemingly jinxed in getting men off the ground, space officials felt confident today that Gemini 9's two dismayed astronauts finally will rocket skyward Friday.

Twice, Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan have donned their flashy space suits and climbed aboard their waiting spaceship; but, twice, they've gloomily taken the slow elevator ride back to the ground.

They get another chance Friday at 9:39 a.m. (EDT) to set out on their 70-hour flight, including satellite rendezvous and 2½-hour space walk after a frustrating two-day delay.

Engineers pinned the blame for the scrubbed Gemini 9 flight Wednesday on a faulty signal relay system. It kept a guidance command from reaching a black box for electronic translation to the spacecraft.

Faulty parts were replaced and preliminary tests indicated the problem had been solved.

However, flight officials still aren't certain a protective shroud around the docking apparatus on one end of the stubby, bottle-shaped line-up target separated as planned once in orbit.

The target, known as an Augmented Target Docking Adapter, blasted off a Cape Kennedy launch pad less than two hours before trouble struck Gemini 9. It continued to circle the earth, performing normally.

Radio signals from the target satellite to earth indicated the shroud did not separate from the ATDA.

But, it may be that no one will know for sure if the mysterious objects, now unidentified, are indeed pieces of the shroud until the astronauts go up and take a look for themselves.

Without link-up in Gemini 9's flight plan, the entire timetable in the already revised mission might have to be juggled again.

However, no matter how the sequence of events finally evolve, the Gemini 9 space twins could still accomplish the trick rendezvous exercises, and Cernan would be able to take his elaborate 2½-hour space walk.

All they do in space figures prominently in the U.S. plan to land men on the moon by the end of the decade.

Shippingport Will Dedicate Its Post Office

Congressman Frank M. Clark of the 25th Legislative District will present an American flag to Shippingport Mayor John M. Combs during dedication ceremonies of the new community post office on Route 168 at 2 p.m. Saturday.

The principal speaker at the dedication will be R. W. McArthur, an official of the Pittsburgh district of the Post Office Authority.

Mrs. Florence Cook, postmaster at Shippingport, said the South Side High School band will take part in the ceremonies and an open house will be held after the dedication. Refreshments will be served.

The post office opened the first week of March, marking the first move by the facilities in more than 60 years. The office was previously in the home of Mrs. Cook at the ferry landing.

Ky's Troops Seize Monks' Site In Hue

No Resistance By Buddhists In Wake Of Political Accord

SAIGON South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's troops took over the Buddhist stronghold of Hue today without any resistance from the Buddhist-led mobs and antigovernment troops that have held the northern city in open rebellion since mid-March.

The junta's forces seized Hue's radio station and other strongpoints in the city 400 miles northeast of Saigon a day after the ruling generals came to a political agreement with

Diversification Hailed

Chamber Salutes Area Industries

Long-sought industrial diversification has come to the East Liverpool district with establishment of new concerns and expansion of existing plants that will lead to increased production and employment, more than 240 members of the Chamber of Commerce were told Wednesday night.

The picture of burgeoning industry along the Ohio River in the district was presented during the annual spring membership dinner at the Inn Town Motel by George A. Shaw, vice president of the Chamber and president of the Community Improvement Corp.

SALUTING the area's industries, Shaw declared:

"No single person or group can claim credit for all the good things which have come our way recently. It's the result of solid thinking by those who make important decisions regarding the destinies of their companies. It's the result of positive thinking, planning and talking by all of those interested in improving their communities.

It's the result of having the right things at the right time, some of which can be attributed to happenstance." Shaw added, "But by whatever means, that area of the Upper Ohio Valley which is represented by the East Liverpool Area Chamber of Commerce is now diversified. We no longer are dependent on a single type of industry, but instead our economy is supported by many different kinds of industries."

As he cited the new and expanding industries, Shaw recognized some of their top executives. He singled out:

The Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. and the Weirton Steel Co., "two giants up-river and down-river which are spending millions in modernization programs. . ."

Patterson Industries, which is engaged in an expansion program to meet an increasing demand for its products.

The Barrett Division of the Allied Chemical Corp., which recently acquired the T.K. Roofing Co. at Chester and is making plans for expansion.

The D. L. Auld Co. of Columbus, which has acquired the controlling interest in the Pottery Supply Co. as part of a diversification program.

The Commercial Decal Co., which is erecting a new building on St. Clair Ave. Ext.

Metsch Refractories, Inc., of Chester, which has added 5,000 square feet to its plant to accommodate expanding business.

The Ohio Brass Co., which has leased the former Edwin M. Knowles China Co. plant and has started setting up machines for production of porcelain electric insulators, expecting to employ 200.

The Globe Brick Co., which has launched a $3½-million expansion program that will boost both production and employment.

3 More American Aircraft Lost In Massive Strikes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. planes hammered North Viet Nam in massive raids for a third consecutive day, concentrating once again on antiaircraft and missile sites. They also made a spectacular strike on a 20-truck Communist supply convoy, U.S. military headquarters reported today.

The heavy air raids Wednesday were carried out at a cost of three more American planes, raising the number of U.S. aircraft shot down over North Viet Nam to 254. One pilot was rescued.

Six planes have been shot down by the Communists since Monday when a break in the weather enabled the United States to step up the air offensive against North Viet Nam.

U.S. ground forces in South Viet Nam made light, sporadic contact with the enemy Wednesday.

U.S. casualties dropped last week, the U.S. command reported, while those of the South Vietnamese and the enemy remained about the same.

The casualty report for the week ending May 28 listed 87 Americans killed in battle, 605 wounded and two missing. The week before there were 146 American dead, 820 wounded and no missing.

The casualties brought the number of Americans reported killed in battle since Jan. 1 to 1,705 by unofficial tabulation, the number of wounded to 10,836.

Five Lose Lives In Mine Mishap

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa. (AP) — Five men were asphyxiated Wednesday night in a soft coal mine near this western Pennsylvania town. Two others escaped safely.

Dr. Robert L. Shaffer, Jefferson County coroner, said the men were working in the Dora No. 2 mine of the Doverspike Brothers Coal Co. when they opened an abandoned working containing "black damp," a miner's term for air without oxygen.

Shaffer said five of the crew of seven working with a continuous mining machine managed to get out but two apparently were unable to flee.

Three of the men returned to try and help their companions, and died.

Shaffer said the dead men were John Kramer, 33, and Sam Gaul, 39, both of Punxsutawney R.D. 3; Bob White, 47, of Punxsutawney R.D. 1; Hilton Neiswonger, 27, of Mayport R.D. 2; and Ronald Moore, about 25, of DuBois R.D. 1.

James Ishman of Brookville and Oran Anthony, 39, of New Bethlehem escaped, said Shaffer.

The men cut into the old working Wednesday night. Rescue operations were delayed for several hours until fans cleared the air. The bodies were recovered early today, about 14 hours after the tragedy. The men were about one mile inside the mine.

Authorities said Gaul and White were overcome inside and that Kramer, Neiswonger, and Moore went to their aid. Ishman ran for help and Anthony stayed outside the mine.

The accident happened near Dora, a small community about 15 miles west of here.

Mercury Dips To 30, Tying Low For June

The mercury dipped to a record — tying June low of 30 degrees early today, with light frost reported in many areas.

Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observer at Millport, said the temperature hit the 2-degree-below freezing mark about daylight, tying a record low set June 8, 1912, for the month of June.

Copeland said there was frost in the district, probably causing some damage.

A warming trend is due Friday, according to the forecast, with a possibility of showers.

He called diversification of industry "a new status symbol" and added: "It's quite possible others interested in our area will mean additional diversification."

Additional Testimony Heard In Court Fight Over Wages

Testimony resumed this morning in Lisbon before a Common Pleas Court jury in a $36,938 civil action against the Head Pin Bowling Alley on Mulberry St. here.

Joseph Chan of 2136 Harvey Ave. was on the stand again in support of his suit against E. Dale Keddie of 829 Orchard Grove Ave., owner of the recreation center.

Chan is seeking $17,669 in wages claimed due over a five-year period and $19,269 for damages. He said he worked for Keddie at the head pin from 1960-64, should have received $4,680 each of the five years, but actually received a total of $5,730 for the entire period. He said he stayed on only because Keddie promised him a partnership.

Chan said he could have earned $5,000 per year at other work and asked as damages the difference between his five-year pay and $25,000.

Keddie's answer claims Chan was already working at the Head Pin when he took over. Keddie said he told Chan he could not continue to pay him the $75 a week he had been getting. As an alternative to being discharged, Chan was permitted to take sufficient funds for his needs from the cash register, Keddie said. In addition, the owner said, Chan received an apartment in the building, got most of his meals free at the restaurant and got free bowling and free drinks for himself and friends at the bar. Keddie said Chan appeared satisfied with the arrangement. The defendant said he never offered Chan a partnership.

On the jury sworn in Wednesday by Judge Joel H. Sharp are Mary Blatch, Maude Grimm, Helen Monier and Mary Prokop, East Liverpool; Emerson Greene, Henry Honeywell and Glenn Caddes, Salem; Mabel O'Donnell, Salineville; Marjorie Gallo, Lisbon; George Holisky and Garnet Maurer, Leetonia; and Cyril Orin, Minerva. Arthur Morris, Lisbon, is the alternate.

Using the topic, "The Role of the Businessman in Community Development," Elmer declared: "You have only one role—to lead. You must; otherwise you are doing a gross disservice to your community."

"Businessmen are the best-qualified leaders, he emphasized, terming them "trained problem solvers."

"You manage the tangible resources of your community," Elmer said. "You have a detailed knowledge and understanding of its assets and its problems. You're the most concerned. You own or manage the tax base on which local, county, state and federal governments depend."

"When business leadership abdicates, communities die," the speaker asserted. "With it, there is progress for business and every citizen in the community."

CALLING ON the Chamber members to be "politically astute," he said they must make their voices felt in legislation passed in Columbus and Washington.

But it's leadership at the local level, not in Washington, that will lead the nation into "the most golden era of our nation," Elmer said.

Alwyn C. Purinton Jr., president, presided. He praised Mike Turk and Robert E. Boyce for "two years of intensive effort to bring industry to our community."

The invocation was by Capt. Richard Bosh of the Salvation Army.

Entertainment included selections by the High School Sophomore Choir, directed by Robert Shankovich.

Mayor George E. Willshaw headed a delegation of city officials and Council members also introduced.

Other guests presented were Charles B. Boso, manager of the local office of the Ohio State Employment Service; Don Hollingsworth, the Ohio Power Co.'s community development consultant and president of the Ohio Planning Conference; Robert Rine, Ohio Power's area development consultant; and Joseph M. Hall, secretary of the Wellsville Chamber.

Dominican's Election Led By Balaguer

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — Conservative Joaquin Balaguer had a narrowing lead over Juan Bosch today in early returns from a Dominican presidential election which already has made history for the tormented little island nation.

At 4 a. m., with the count going slowly, scattered returns gave Balaguer 157,594 votes and Bosch 146,935. Earlier Balaguer's lead had been nearly 30,000 votes.

Rafael F. Bonelly, the third candidate who was never given a chance, was far behind.

In voting which foreign observers called astonishingly calm, orderly and fair, Balaguer drew expected strength from conservative rural areas. He also was running strong in cities where Bosch — deposed nine months after he was elected in 1962 — had his greatest support.

Early results were fragmentary. An atmosphere of jubilation pervaded Balaguer's headquarters. A spokesman in Bosch's camp admitted to some worry.

Political Leverage In Viet Nam

The gaunt outline of a familiar bugaboo of government is being glimpsed more and more frequently through the battle smoke and personal immolations in South Viet Nam.

What purports to be the "will of the people," as manifested in riots and armed clashes, is turning out to be nothing but the political activism of a handful.

The activists usually are referred to as Buddhists, but that, too, is turning out to be a dubious description. The state of being a Buddhist in Viet Nam is like the state of being classified "Christian" in the United States.

All Vietnamese not clearly and officially categorized as non-Buddhists are lumped into a catch-all Buddhist category. But in harsh fact, real Buddhists are a small minority of the population who know how to exert maximum pressure in politics.

They do this by organization. Other Vietnamese minorities lack organization. This gives Buddhists the advantage traditionally enjoyed by Communists, who have made a high skill of subverting the masses by political leverage. There never has been an instance in which Communists could claim a clear majority. But there have been many instances in which Communists accomplished by organized leverage what they never could accomplish by weight of numbers.

Cynics claim that five per cent of the human race try to think and of the five per cent only half think successfully. Thus, as few as two and a half per cent of the human race can manipulate 97 1/2 per cent by sheer activism.

Nothing could be more misleading than to think of the Vietnamese as being universally concerned with politics. The overwhelming majority couldn't care less. They only wish the French had let them alone.

Our Loss

East Liverpool will suffer an unmistakable loss when George Hargraves Jr. pulls stakes for new and challenging pastures.

As an educator, George has been good for the school system; as a civic-minded individual, he has been good for the community. He has served well in many capacities with energy and understanding.

Because he has performed so capably and so conscientiously, his services have been sought by others. When opportunity knocked this time, George found the knock too loud and too clear to ignore.

Our best wishes go with him in his new pursuits. The school system in southeastern Ohio has made a wise choice.

Musings In Outer Space

The Gemini 9 mission has been held up by computer failure.

At the risk of giving offense to defenders of the scientific community, some of us are nursing doubts about the space ages reliance on ultra-sophisticated machinery and gadgets.

When these things work, the result is magical.

When they don't work, the result is chaotic. Our doubts grow out of nonworking episodes frequent enough to suggest the possibility the United States is being hobbled by something worse than a time lag in its race with the Soviet Union. Its machinery may be getting too complicated.

If Charles A. Lindbergh, who made trans-oceanic flight feasible, had been obliged to wait on ultra-sophisticated aviation gadgets he would still be on the ground . . . waiting. He flew by the seat of his pants.

Guessing Game

WASHINGTON

Much of American policy toward Red China is a guessing game, including the hope it will change its ways, and now there are rumbles there. But that doesn't mean change, if it comes, will come soon.

That there has been discontent with the present leadership in Red China has been clear for weeks, giving some support to the hope that in time, when younger leaders take over some of the present fanaticism will disappear.

It is for this reason that so much of American policy toward Red China has been aimed at preventing the Chinese from gobbling up the rest of Asia now.

Last March, Secretary of State Dean Rusk put it this way: "It is just as essential to contain Communist aggression in Asia as it was, and is, to contain Communist aggression in Europe."

IN RECENT months there have been continued attacks on Chinese intellectuals by the government of Mao Tze-tung. But until now the dissidents have simply been rebuked or downgraded, so far as is known.

Now the Chinese government is attacking Ten To, once its leading spokesman as editor of the official People's Daily. There are indications he will be brought to trial and purged.

It might be the start of a far wider purge and thus become a repetition of what happened in Russia under Stalin in the 1930s. He began his purges in 1934, just 17 years after the Bolshevik revolution took Russia.

It's been almost 17 years since the Chinese Communists took control of the China mainland, making it seem that within less than a generation after a Red revolution younger people get fed up with the fanatic old masters.

There can be no doubt Mao has wrought many beneficial changes for the Chinese people since he and his group of lieutenants after two decades of trying seized the mainland.

But the Chinese people have had a tough time on the road to progress. Meanwhile, the Mao leadership has made them hostile to most of the world with anti-Western and even anti-Russian propaganda.

At the same time the Chinese have seen their leadership suffer defeats and rebuffs around the world. They have nothing to look forward to but even more isolation from the rest of the world, including most of the Communist world.

TO ACHIEVE Chinese magnificence, Mao has insisted upon total conformity and acceptance of his leadership. The discontent of recent months shows the leadership is not being accepted totally.

The present discontent may be crushed, just as Stalin crushed it during his lifetime in Russia. He was repudiated by his successors.

It's doubtful that would have happened if the West, led by the United States, had not "contained" Russia through a military alliance which prevented Stalin from grabbing Europe.

This early containment policy also was based on the hope in time Russia might become less aggressive and easier to live with. Rusk expressed the same view about China:

"We must keep firmly in our minds that there is nothing eternal about the policies and attitudes of Communist China. Peking's present state of mind is a combination of aggressive arrogance and obsessions of its own making."

"We have little hope of changing the outlook of these leaders. They are the product of their entire lives. They seem to be immune to agreement or persuasion."

Coffee Break

The coffee muddle finally had to be tackled by a presidential commission.

No one could say what coffee was supposed to taste like any more.

The stuff ranged from bad to worse and from there to inexcusable.

Yet, anyone who passed judgment was subject to harsh censure for his opinion, because coffee had become whatever the people who brewed it believed it was.

Confusion had been piled on confusion, moreover, by the addition of soluble coffee to the traditional types—whole bean ground at the store, whole bean ground on the premises, drip grind, percolator grind, mild, strong, super-strong, etc.

Gone and forgotten was boiled coffee, once the universal brew, guaranteed to scare off marauding Indians, beasts of prey, epidemics and frontier fanatics. Boiled coffee always tasted the same—like black lye.

Boiled coffee has lingered on only in television for pioneer dramas, where it helps script writers to create a mood of hospitality: "Let me make a pot of coffee; it will take me only a minute to the boil the pot."

In the modern world of coffee, no two kinds taste the same.

Some taste like distillations of boiled tire tread scraps salvaged from the berms of high-speed roads.

Some taste like rain water running off a sun-parched brown shingle roof after a summer shower.

There are coffee-dispensing machines that dispense an attention-grabbing potion made from crank case drippings dissolved in hot kerosene.

In truck-stop roadside restaurants it is possible to find a preparation called coffee that has been made by pulverizing black walnuts and dissolving the powder in decarbonated quinine water.

Millions of Americans who never have known different think coffee is a black liquid that tastes like a pasteboard container contaminated with artificial sweetening and a pinch of soluble cream-colored powdered plastic.

Whole families live and die never having known that it is not normal to be able to see the bottom of the cup through what would have been coffee if someone had remembered to put in the coffee.

Coffee is being made from weed seeds, discarded gloves picked up in bus stations, burnt leaves, unclaimed overshoes, chimney sweepings and the residue from vacuum cleaner bags.

That is why something has to be done about it. That is why a presidential commission must decree that only beverages which taste like coffee can be sold in public places under the name "coffee" and why private persons who serve what purports to be coffee but isn't can be held liable under the law for malicious mischief injurious to organized coffee growers of the world.

The commission will put a lot of coffee charlatans out of work.

Deeper And Deeper

Robert Kennedy Woos Labor

By Victor Riesel

With Bob Kennedy's young staff it's go, go, go.

They're "camp," which means if you ask your teen-agers, they're "in" because they are "way out." Kennedy's people know everything — the mainstream of college sports today is "knibbling" and the big thing among those in their 20s is "trivia."

This is no hallucinogenic politics. It's shrewd to know what's happening among the young voters (the average worker's age now is 29 and soon will be 25).

But neither does the go, go, go staff fail to keep up with the elders. Kennedy's people especially are interested in any political machinery which blends the young and the old.

Thus a few days ago the New York senator moved swiftly when he learned that a union chief, the leader of just such a political entity — the New York State Liberal party — had sat at the bedside of President Johnson shortly after lunch on Thursday, May 12.

After a while, Mr. Johnson had summoned into the bedroom new presidential special aide, Robert Kintner, and assigned him to be the labor leader's special liaison with the White House.

THAT LIBERAL PARTY sachment was — and is the Hatters' Union's Alex Rose.

The party is important because it has swung as many as 450,000 votes in the state and can be vital in the making — or unmaking — of a president because New York still is the make-or-break state.

Though the party has as its base the powerful pro - Johnson International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, largest in the state, many of the Liberal clubhouses have suddenly found themselves frequented by anti-Johnson, anti-Viet Nam policy young "peace-ists." Some of them are the hyper-energetic kind, and they have been backing anti-Johnson candidates in New York and Syracuse, for example.

Thus it was that almost exactly one week to the minute after Mr. Rose left the White House, he received a phone call from Bob Kennedy. The senator suggested they get together and talk some politics.

Mr. Rose was enthusiastic. Now he was being wooed by "both sides." He and "Bob" had not had very many kinds words for each other and had not hesitated to say so in that gray arena of the political milieu, which always hears things first, magnifies them later and spills them at cocktail society time.

MR. ROSE SUGGESTED, in turn, they meet at "The Table" in the Ebony Room of the Victorian style Hotel Prince George, where most people think most people don't go any more.

"The Table" is the power base. It is coveted. There, unseen by the public, and even almost unvisual to the other diners, the hat union leader and the daylight-burning Kennedy talked local and national politics.

The local trivia is important only because it brought the "Hatter" and the Kennedy together.

They agreed to fight the traditional Democratic party, now led by Harlem's Ray Jones, the only New York delegate to the 1960 nominating convention to go down battling for Lyndon Johnson for President.

At issue is a $37,000-a-year, 14-year surrogate job.

But the national implications of the conversation are vital to the state, the nation and the world.

Reports have it that they discussed a coalition behind a mutual gubernatorial candidate.

THIS MEANS THAT MR. ROSE plans to abandon his coalition with the liberal Republicans—into which Mayor Lindsay and Nelson Rockefeller fit.

It means that Mr. Rose would have to cut loose from former Mayor Wagner.

It means that he would attempt to deliver 450,000 Liberal party votes to the forces now in cadence with Kennedy.

There would be no doubt that such a move, giving Bob Kennedy the power to negotiate for the Liberal party inside the Democratic party ranks, would make the senator one of the most powerful figures in the national Democratic party itself.

Actually, all that now is needed is a gubernatorial candidate.

In the open lead is Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. But is he Bob Kennedy's candidate? Not too many insiders will say yes.

Rather, they point to the distinguished but self - effacing Manhattan District Attorney Frank Hogan. With united Kennedy and Liberal party support, he might topple Mr. Rockefeller this fall.

Obviously the express train of history would be routed on new tracks. That's what can come from such conversation at "The Table."

Press Paradox

By David Lawrence

Africa Action Stirs Protest

Quite a fuss was raised the other day when the South African government refused to admit a special group of newspapermen who were planning to accompany Sen. Robert F. Kennedy on his forthcoming visit to that country. Maybe the government of South Africa made a mistake in public-relations strategy inasmuch as the correspondents who regularly live in Pretoria can write about the senator's visit anyway. What is paradoxical is that, while other countries, large and small, have barred American newsmen not just on David Lawrence's occasional visits but all the time, no such vehement protests have been made as were expressed here in America concerning South Africa's action.

Indeed, there are probably more of the so-called "free republics" which today refuse to admit newsmen from publications whose criticisms they disliked than there are countries which are ready to open the gates to all, as, for instances, the United States and Great Britain.

In many countries, newsmen are not permitted to travel around freely. This is true of all the Communist countries with the single exception of Yugoslavia. Russia, for example, claims that its ban on movement by tourists and newsmen is confined to cities "where there are no hotel or travel facilities," but no American has been allowed to stay in Vladivostok since the Soviets took power.

SOME OF THE COMMUNIST governments, moreover, have kept out groups of newsmen when they have been assigned most to cover a particularly story which the authorities in those countries feared would not be reported to suit them.

Most correspondents in the United States and other Western countries pulled out of Russia in 1949 due to restrictions, and today the newsmen stationed there regularly must get approval of the foreign office if they wish to travel outside of Moscow. This involves lots of red tape and delays.

Many countries have ejected correspondents and have notified them after they left that they could not return. Among them are Saudi Arabia, Iran, Syria, Iraq, Egypt, Haiti and several countries in Africa.

Only a few weeks ago the Soviet government ordered a representative of the American Broadcasting Company to get out of Moscow, not because of anything he himself had done but because back home a commentary was broadcast of which the Communists did not approve.

THE MOSCOW CORRESPONDENT had nothing to do with the preparation of the broadcast. The action taken was merely a way the Soviets are using to try to intimidate the television networks and influence the writing on commentaries for American audiences.

Red China for many years has been refusing to allow American newspapermen to enter any mainland area. In 1957, a group of 31 correspondents were cleared for travel to Red China by the United States, but the Peking regime would not admit them. North Korea and North Viet Nam also have been closed to U.S. spectators in parts of other continents.

The State Department from time to time has made perfunctory protests on this subject. When in recent months African countries have kept out some American newsmen, the United States government has had very little to say.

Unfortunately, control of the press is a counterpart of totalitarian rule. There are many parts of Africa in which the blacks predominate and, while they have been given independence, dictatorships nevertheless have arisen and are in power today.

Freedom of the press is not being permitted in many counties in Africa, nor is it being respected in parts of other continents.

The United States, however, is extending financial and economic aid to some countries which do not even permit American newsmen to enter their lands and to other countries which expel them when articles are written that are not to the liking of the existing regimes.

State Agency 56 Attend Midland Students' Given Beaver 'Roman Style' Banquet Event College Plans

A request for a community college in Beaver County was presented to the Pennsylvania State Board of Education today by County Commissioners James E. Ross, Eli G. Corak and Arthur W. Pettibon.

The state board meets today in Harrisburg and is expected to study the request for the vocational and technically - oriented school.

The commissioners' request said: "The establishment of a vocational and technically-oriented school has the sanction of the Beaver County Planning Commission. Currently, there are two institutions of higher learning in the county, Geneva College at Beaver Falls and the Penn State Extension Campus at Monaca. These institutions afford excellent opportunity for those students aspiring higher academic achievement.

"Changing technological demands require personnel in areas other than those offered at these institutions. It is evident that people in Beaver County could benefit by the establishment of a vocational and technically - oriented school."

100,000 See 4 Hanged In Leopoldville

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — A crowd of more than 100,000 looked on today as four Congolese politicians were hanged in Leopoldville's main square on charges of plotting to kill President Joseph Mobutu.

The government declared a holiday for the execution, and the government radio urged a large turnout to watch "the end of those who wanted to overthrow the regime and betray their fatherland."

One by one, the four condemned men stepped barefooted from a military jeep and climbed the steps to the gallows under a blazing sun. They wore black hoods over their faces and blue-striped shorts.

The hanging took less than half an hour. Estimates of the crowd ranged from 100,000 to 200,000. There were a few shouts as the trap was sprung beneath the first man, but otherwise the crowd was quiet.

To keep the seams of a nylon garment from pulling, sew flat hem binding along both edges of the seam just back of the original stitching. Then restitch the seam through the binding which doesn't ravel.

When pressing garments made of dark materials, it's a great help if you first tumble the garment in the dryer for a few moments. This is a far easier way of removing lint than brushing.

Report Due On Midland's False Alarms

Representatives of the Pennsylvania Bell Telephone Co. are expected to meet with Midland Borough officials soon to review the causes of the false fire alarms reported during the testing of facilities at the new central office on Sunrise Hill.

H. Robert Cousin, manager of the Rochester office, reported today the difficulty has been traced to the inadvertent tripping of the alarm wire located in a cable that was being tested. "This wire since has been segregated from the other wires in the cable and it is hoped there will be no further incidents," he said.

Three false alarms were reported during a meeting of Council two weeks ago.

Councilman Joseph Hibbard, chairman of the fire and police committee, submitted the report and recommended the borough seek reimbursement for the money paid to the firemen for answering the calls. "The men get paid for every call they make. I feel the company should be approached for reimbursement since it was the failure of their equipment that set off the alarms," he said.

The $2 million facility began operations officially May 15, providing an increased local calling zone for customers in the Midland - Onio View area.

their Buddhist opponents in Saigon.

Hue was the last territorial stronghold of the antigovernment forces. Its recapture was a major victory for Ky, who has managed to stay in power with the support of his fellow generals and the United States despite the massive campaign mounted against him by the Buddhists.

After weeks of street disturbances by Buddhist youths, Saigon took an unnaturally calm look. However, some radical Buddhist elements protested the Buddhist government compromise agreement to add 10 civilians to the ruling directorate of 10 generals.

Following up its seizure on May 23 of Da Nang, the other Buddhist stronghold, the junta's troops swept into Hue without a shot after the departure of units of the dissident-riddled 1st Vietnamese division.

No opposition was reported from members of the Buddhist struggle movement there led by the monk Thich — Venerable — Tri Quang, leader of the Buddhist rebellion in the north. More than 1,000 students sacked and burned the U.S. consulate Wednesday and an adjoining consulate residence in Hue.

Most of the foreign civilians in the city had been evacuated, but U.S. Consul Thomas Corcoran and a skeleton staff had taken refuge last weekend with U.S. military personnel at the barricaded American military compound outside the center of the old imperial capital.

In Looting Truck

A 16-year-old East End boy has been cited in connection with the looting of a parked truck over the Memorial Day weekend, in which the loss included a 22-caliber pistol, tools worth about $50 and a bank book and checks, police reported Wednesday afternoon.

The boy was accused of the theft from a 1962 model van-type vehicle owned by Robert T. Horn of the Travelers Hotel. Horn said a thief smashed a window to gain entry to the vehicle while it was parked on Lee St. near the O. S. Hill Co., where he is employed. The theft was timed between 5 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. Tuesday.

Following a "lead," police cited the boy, who admitted the theft and returned the property to the owner, officers said. Patrolman Orin C. Smith investigated.

'Comrade'

U.S., Reds 'Play Game' At Sea

ABOARD CARRIER ENTERPRISE, Off North Viet Nam (AP) — The Russians and the U. S. 7th Fleet are following each other around in the seas off Viet Nam.

The game is called "Comrade" by the Americans. It's played this way:

A Soviet fishing trawler, equipped with an unusual amount of radar, shows up a few miles from the 90,000-ton, nuclear-powered Enterprise.

Its mission, apart from fishing, is snooping.

It wants to find out how many planes are aboard the carrier, how many are launched each day for attacks against North Viet Nam and any other information.

When the trawler shows up, the word goes round the Enterprise: "Comrade is shadowing us again."

A few miles behind, however, the fast nuclear-powered missile frigate Bainbridge is shadowing the Soviet shadower.

This keeps up for a few hours until Comrade drops out of sight, only to reappear a day or two later.

No guns are fired. No one makes any hostile moves. The ships don't even signal each other.

"They seem to want to be friendly," says Capt. James L.

Miss Susan L. White Weds in Ceremony At Chester

The First Christian Church of Chester was the scene of the wedding of Miss Susan L. White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter White of First St., Chester, and Airman 2C Dennis D. Spencer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeddie Spencer of Chester.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert Chondelmayer the afternoon of May 14 at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Margaret Shaw presented a half-hour recital of organ music. Mrs. Alvin Stevens sang "Because," "The Wedding Prayer" and "O Lord Most Holy."

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white Chantilly lace. The fitted bodice was designed with a scalloped neckline and long, pointed sleeves. The full skirt was highlighted with bouffant lace ruffles, trimmed with sequins, white roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Her shoulder-length veil of imported silk illusion was held in place with a silk organza bow and seed pearl trim on the lace petals. She carried an arrangement of white orchids and lily-of-the-valley, placed on a white Bible, which was the gift of Mrs. Roy Walker. In observing the traditions, the six-pence she carried in her shoe was the gift of Miss Sarah Thomas.

Miss Barbara Staggers was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Kerrie Spencer and Miss Terrie Spencer, twin sisters of the bridegroom. They appeared in floor-length gowns of blue brocade satin with matching cabbage rose headpieces and theater veils. Their Colonial bouquets featured pink carnations tied with satin streamers.

How Can I? By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I clean nickel?

A. — By washing it with soap and water, rinsing, then polishing with a soft cloth. If this treatment is not sufficient, use whitening, or a fine cleaning powder, moistened with alcohol. Rinse and polish. Nickel has a tendency to darken if not cleaned frequently enough.

Community College OK'd For Beaver

HARRISBURG (AP) — The state Board of Education approved today a community college for Beaver County.

The plan approved was a revision of a plan that first went before the board in April 1965. That plan was praised but returned at the suggestion of legal counsel because the sponsoring county board of school directors was not a taxing body.

Today's proposal had the sponsorship of 25 of the county's 36 separate school districts, each a taxing body.

Under the proposal, the college will begin operation in September, 1967, with an initial student body of 500 long-range projection calls for a 2,000 full-time student institution.

Negley Opens 15th Carnival

NEGLEY — An estimated 3,000 attended a parade Wednesday night marking the opening of the 15th annual carnival of the Negley volunteer fire department.

A fireworks display is scheduled Friday about dusk. The carnival will close Saturday night.

Eighty-five units participated in the parade, with East Palestine receiving the prize for the best-equipped truck and the East Palestine High School band for the best musical unit.

Rochester firemen received the award for the best-equipped emergency car.

Moorefield Township firemen near Piedmont, Ohio, won the award for the company traveling the greatest distance — 80 miles.

The prize for the newest truck went to North Beaver Township firemen for their 1966 model, which was only 12 days old.

Smith Says He'd Seek Re-Election

CHARLESTON — Gov. Hallett C. Smith said today he definitely would be a 1968 candidate for re-election if the governor's succession amendment passes in the November election this year.

Smith related that all he said in an interview at West Liberty Wednesday was, "If the amendment passes, I will consider being a candidate." He has said this much several times previously.

On the basis of an interview with a Wheeling newsman, Smith was quoted Wednesday as having said he "definitely would have to be considered a candidate" if the amendment is ratified. The interview took place prior to Smith's commencement address to the graduating class of West Liberty State College.

Tribute Paid To Teacher Who Retires At Wellsville

Mrs. Hazel Fraser, who is retiring from the faculty of McKinley School at Wellsville, was honored with a dinner Tuesday night in the school in appreciation of her 20 years' service.

Among the 50 attending were parents, past PTA officers, former pupils of Mrs. Fraser, school personnel, Mr. and Mrs. William Ferrall, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lloyd and Raymond Rolley. Farrell and Mrs. Lloyd are members of the Board of Education and Rolley is clerk.

Thomas Jones, principal, was master of ceremonies for the program, which began with a tribute of "Appreciation" in verse. As 12 parents participated, they placed a flower to form a Colonial bouquet which was given to Mrs. Fraser. Jones presented Mrs. Fraser with a booklet in green with a gold cover including the tribute verses and the program.

Mrs. Marge Dysert presented a plaque to the honored guest on behalf of the parents and teachers of McKinley School, using the letters of both of her names in an original verse composed by Mrs. Helen Welch and inscribed with the dates 1946-66. Mrs. Donna Allison engraved the plaque. Jack Lanam made the presentation of a gift certificate on behalf of the group.

Representing the board of education, Mrs. Lloyd presented the honored guest a certificate of recognition for outstanding services and on behalf of the PTA Mrs. Eileen Bush, program chairman, gave her an orchid which formed the center of the floral tribute.

Musical selections from "Mary Poppins" were sung by a boys' trio of David and Eric Bush and Pat Mason, accompanied by Miss Mary Alice Doyle. Mrs. Fraser expressed her appreciation and reviewed her teaching career in Montana and Wellsville.

The Rev. and Mrs. Lewis Fraser and Mrs. Betsy Erwin, relatives of Mrs. Fraser, were among the guests. The Rev. James Sanko of the Riverside United Presbyterian Church gave the blessing. Centerpieces on the tables were the gift from floral shops of Wellsville and were given to the rooms of Mrs. Fraser, Mrs. Edythe Elkins and Mrs. Judy Dornick Miller.

Mrs. Dorothy Bunfill, Mrs. Eula Hale, Mrs. Helen Martin and Mrs. Lloyd were in charge of the coverdish dinner arrangements.

'Set A Goal,' Seniors Told

Graduates of South Side High School were urged to "set a definite goal in life" by Dr. Edwin C. Clarke of Geneva College during commencement at the school Wednesday night.

About 750 attended the exercises in which 74 students were presented diplomas by Charles P. Henderson, high school principal.

Dr. Clarke told the students to set a goal and to use their potentials to the maximum in striving for success. He also urged them to maintain faith in God.

"Many people have qualifications for success, but fail because they don't use their potentials to the greatest extent. One must use all of his talents if he is to succeed," he said.

Cloud Submits Accounting Book For College Use

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor Roger Cloud has submitted to Ohio Board of Regents Chancellor John D. Millett the first copy of a uniform accounting manual for use by all state-assisted universities and colleges.

"Procedures in the 160-page manual are to be inaugurated as soon as possible and will be mandatory by July 1, 1967," Cloud said. "Ohio thus becomes the first state to establish such a system for institutions of higher learning."

"Because of the extreme importance placed on education in our society of today, it becomes necessary that comparative costs may be determined."

"Further, the cost of education, being of primary concern to those in government as well as the administrators of the institutions, requires that an accounting system be used which is adaptable to all concerned."

Affected are the seven state universities in Cincinnati, Toledo, and Akron; community colleges in Cuyahoga and Lorain counties, and the newly activated Toledo State College of Medicine.

He is a 1951 civil engineering graduate of Ohio State University and a member of the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Folks: Many of you are writing that you buy cracked eggs because they are cheaper. Also, some of you accidentally bring cracked eggs home and use them. Don't do this.

Always open that carton before you purchase it to see if an egg is cracked. The Division of Epidemiology of the Washington State Department of Health advises that cracked, checked, leaking and soiled eggs should be regarded as unfit for food use. They can cause salmonellosis which is very dangerous.

So, gals please don't use them. The best way to save is just open up that egg carton and see if an egg is cracked before you take 'em home from the store. If so, pick another carton.

Your grocery man shouldn't mind. All he will do is send them back to the egg man when he comes again.

And it will cost you nothing. So let's play it safe.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a hint for travelers. Use an old eye-glass case to carry a pair of cuticle scissors.

It is perfect for protecting the points of the scissors.

MARGE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER DEAR HELOISE: I, too, had been using the car seat belt as a weight-watcher.

One day I noticed the belt was extremely tight, and naturally assumed I had been putting on pounds.

I starved myself for a week before realizing my husband had moved the car seat forward!

NOT-SO-PERKY.

DEAR HELOISE: To keep your soap dish clean (the one in the bathroom that isn't removable) keep plastic wrap around it; and when it becomes dirty, just throw the wrap away.

DIANE VANDERHOF

DEAR FOLKS: This is a little hint for those of you who have hair dryers with the big plastic caps and a long vacuum hose leading to the motor.

Don't ever set the mechanical part (that's where the motor is) on a pillow or in your lap when drying your hair.

Here is why: The bottom is where the air comes in and keeps the motor from getting hot. When you set these things on a pillow or on a soft chair or in your lap, no air can come in to cool the motor. This ruins it!

Eventually the motor will burn out. Don't take this chance—at the price of hair dryers today....

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Use old foam-backed table mats (foam side down) under throw rugs to stop skidding.

CLARA JORDAN.

DEAR HELOISE: I find that a small two-cup percolator make an excellent syrup pitcher, especially for children to handle.

By removing the inside parts of the percolator, the syrup can be heated, served and stored in the same container.

After use, I remove and wash the lid. I then take a damp paper towel or small cloth, wipe the spout and around the inside edge of the pot, and it is ready to use again.

A 1959 two-door sedan driven by Bruce M. Bissell, 24, of 1514 St. Clair Ave. was damaged extensively on the left side and front in a collision at 1:28 a. m. today on the approach to the Chester Bridge, police reported.

Bissell's southbound car was involved in a collision with a northbound 1965 tractor-trailer truck owned by the A. & P. Tea Co., Inc., of Pittsburgh and operated by Harry Mitchell, 54, of Pittsburgh, police said. The rig was undamaged. Each driver blamed the other for swinging too wide on the turn, officers said.

A collision Wednesday at 3:19 p. m. on Harvey Ave. near Elizabeth St. involved a halted 1964 two-door sedan driven by Hersel Flesher, 49, of Post Office Box 33, Chester, and a 1964 four-door sedan driven by Harold Reese, 44, of R. D. 2, officers said. Flesher said his car was halted when hit from the rear by the Reese car.

If you do not want the tiny members of your family to be always calling you to open the door as they play in the yard during the hot summer months, put a handle especially for them on the screen door. Attach a half of an empty thread spool within their reach.

$30 Million To Cover State Expenses Due Scranton OK

HARRISBURG (AP) — Ten House appropriation bills amounting to $30 million to cover state expenses in the coming fiscal year are on Gov. Scranton's desk, ready for his signature.

The measures, passed by the Senate Wednesday, include one for $20 million for the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority (PIDA). Scranton had recommended this amount.

Another key bill in the package would give $7.3 million under the new clean streams law to communities that build sewage treatment plants.

Also ready for the governor's signature is a measure to provide $50,000 to the Moore College of Art in Philadelphia for the fiscal year which begins the first of next month.

The Senate also passed six bills—including four appropriation bills totaling $610,442—and sent them to the House.

During the brief but busy session, the administration introduced a highway beautification bill to pave the way for $3 million in federal money for roadside rest.

If such enabling legislation is not passed, the state stands to lose federal money after July 1.

A bill was introduced to pay national guardsmen called into active duty last month in the gigantic manhunt for Peggy Ann Bradnick and her kidnaper at Shade Gap.

Among the bills passed by the Senate and sent to Scranton were the following appropriation measures:

—$12 million for conversion of the old marine barracks in Philadelphia into a Youth Development Center.

—$500,000 to the Coal Research Board.

—$660,000 for veterans' assistance.

—$200,000 to the mines department for extinguishing mine refuse bank fires.

The United States, with only six per cent of the world's population, accounts for 23 per cent of the world's shoe production.

48 Youngsters Flee In Schoolhouse Fire

Firemen said the blaze apparently started on the top floor of the three-story building.

In Racial Injustice Struggle

LBJ Cautions Negroes Not To Expect Miracles

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has cautioned Negroes not to expect presidential miracles in the struggle against racial injustice.

"No national government, however enlightened, can by itself change the conditions of Negro life in America," he told his White House Conference on Civil Rights Wednesday night.

But he brought the 2,400 delegates to their feet with the measured declaration that "we are moving — we shall not turn back."

He pledged "to give my days, and such talents as I have been given, to the pursuit of justice and opportunity for those so long denied that."

Johnson's unannounced appearance at the conference was seen by many delegates as a morale booster to an event that had limped from the starting line in a welter of parliamentary squabbling.

Discussions of the planning council's 100 recommendations to bring the Negro into full equality in jobs, housing, education and justice resume today at a midtown hotel.

In the last few hours before the conference ends, delegates will have their hard-won chance to vote on the resolutions to be tacked onto the council recommendations in a report to the President.

It is here that the Viet Nam issue may be injected into the two-day conference for the first time. Floyd McKissick, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality has promised resolutions "dealing with the effect of the war in Viet Nam on the Negro in the ghetto."

"We have made mistakes," Johnson said in his soft-spoken address. "We will make others for we know our weaknesses. We will arouse hopes as we have already done that cannot be quickly fulfilled."

"Do not expect from me, or any man, a miracle. Do not expect us, even together to put right in one year or four all that took centuries to make wrong."

Under Equal Opportunity Plan

Lockheed Reports 6,500 Minority Workers Hired

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In May of 1961 Lockheed Aircraft Corp. was first to sign for the federal government's equal opportunity employment program, aimed at finding jobs for minorities.

"We didn't wait for them to apply, we sought them out," says James Hodgson, director of industrial relations.

Result: Lockheed now reports that 6,500 of its 84,000 employees are members of minority groups — and among the 6,500 there are 2½ times as many in managerial or professional jobs than in unskilled or service work.

To help make its planes, ships, missiles and a host of other things the firm goes after Indians in Washington, Mexican-Americans in Arizona, Filipinos in California, Negroes in Georgia and Alabama.

It says 91 such employees are managers at $10,000 to $20,000 a year; 967 are scientists, engineers or accountants at $8,000 to $20,000, and 4,404 are in such skills as lathe operators, flight mechanics, carpenters, electricians, at $5,000 to $7,000.

Federal civil rights laws can be met by hiring service workers. Lockheed is one of 328 major firms joining voluntarily a federal "plan for progress" to recruit minority workers above the janitorial level.

How does it work?

Lockheed representatives go into minority-living areas sometimes 20 miles from plants, leaving job lists with ministers, slum-area employment offices and such organizations as the Urban League.

High school principals and counselors from slum schools are taken on tours of company facilities, told what's needed, what's available, and urged to spread the word.

Campus recruiters include such Negro colleges as Howard and Tuskegee Institute in their rounds.

Lockheed's industrial union, International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, pushes a summer-long apprentice program for skill training. In Georgia, the union has several Negro business agents.

China Moves To Mend Ties With Castro

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China made an open move today to mend its relations with Fidel Castro's Cuba and charged that Moscow is betraying the Cuban people.

An article in the official Peking People's Daily claimed the Russians are not really supporting the Cubans in recent incidents at the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo. It said China is Cuba's "most faithful and dependable" friend.

The article came a day after Peking announced that it had renewed its trade and scientific cooperation agreement with Cuba. The New China News Agency said the agreement was signed in Havana a week ago.

The Cuban government had announced earlier that the two countries signed a pact for the exchange of rice and sugar.

The collapse of a similar barter agreement last fall led to a deterioration in relations between the two countries.

In a speech on March 14, Castro accused Peking of "launching an imperialist-type campaign against Cuba." China implied that Castro was moving ideologically toward Russia, and there were reports that he was purging pro-Peking elements in Cuba.

What brought the apparent change in China's attitude was not clear.

Strike Of 150 Closes Oil Delivery Network

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — The Eureka Pipeline Co.'s oil delivery network between Charleston and Pittsburgh has been closed by a strike of about 150 Eureka employees.

The employees, members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers union, walked out Wednesday after their contract expired.

Company officials said all of the firm's pumping and gathering stations in northwestern West Virginia had been affected by the strike.

Fight Staged To Save Old Met Building

NEW YORK (AP) — In April the great golden curtain came down "for the last time" at the Metropolitan Opera House. Now some people want to raise it again.

The Metropolitan Opera Co. opens its new season in September in sparkling new quarters at the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts. The old opera house is to be torn down to make way for a 40-story office building.

A fight is being led by the Citizens Committee for the Preservation of the Metropolitan Opera House, whose executive chairman is Leonard Altman. It received support this week from Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

Chief among those who want the opera house to fall before the wrecking ball is the opera company itself. It would receive an average of $484,000 a year in rent for the next 50 years from the builder, Keystone Associates.

The committee estimates that the opera house could be renovated for about $7.5 million — the same amount they figure the building could be purchased for. Anthony Bliss, Met president, says renovation probably would cost closer to $14 million, and that $12 million would be needed for outright purchase.

The state legislature in Albany has passed a bill which provides a six-month stay in demolition of the opera house. It has not yet reached the desk of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Under its summer schedule, Council will hold only one regular session from June through August. The next regular meeting will be June 20.

Court Dismisses State's Affidavit On Nursing Home

"I'm laying this case to rest at long last," Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff commented today as he dismissed an affidavit in which a State Health Department official accused Mrs. Isabel Ingram of Park Way of operating a nursing home without obtaining a license.

Acting in a case that dates back to Dec. 2, the judge ordered Mrs. Ingram to pay the court costs. He dismissed the action after he was advised the nursing home operator had complied with all the state's requirements for obtaining a license.

The case was continued approximately half a dozen times to allow Mrs. Ingram to comply with various requirements of the state, including structural changes in the building and the hiring of a nurse. She said she spent $3,000 on building work.

The affidavit was signed by Robert Kauer, supervising sanitarian of the State Health Department. Mrs. Ingram was represented by Bernard Fineman.

Health Requirements Cited In Food Service

LISBON — A health card less than a year old and certifying a negative tuberculosis test is required of anyone who prepares or handles food for the public, Dr. M. K. Singer, county health commissioner, pointed out today.

He said the rule applies to individuals who work at short-term food stands at fairs and festivals as well as those employed by established eating places. Workers must have the card in their possession.

Dr. Singer said cards may be procured without charge at the Tuberculosis Control Clinic on the third floor of the Courthouse. The clinic will issue a card after a negative Mantoux tuberculin test or a negative chest X-ray if the individual reacts to the Mantoux.

Do not throw away your son's old wide trousers if he doesn't want to wear them because they aren't pegged. Rip open the inside seam from cuff to cuff, cut so they will be pegged, and re-sew.

5 Bands Set Already For Chester Fete

Five bands already have accepted invitations to participate in the annual firemen's parade. Asst. Chief George Allison, who also is parade chairman, reported at the meeting of the Chester volunteer fire department Wednesday night.

The parade will be held July 29 as the highlight of the annual fair July 25-30.

Plans for the parade and the fair were discussed during the meeting at which Allison presided.

Richard Shingler was placed on the honorary membership list.

Wellsville VFW Plans Barbecue

Plans for a barbecue were outlined during a meeting of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9285 of Wellsville Wednesday night at the home of the commander, Kenneth Carter, 1609 Maple Ave.

The barbecue will be held June 11 at the home of Richard Carter of 1180 Erie St.

Richard Carter reported on the 6th District meeting May 22 in Dover, at which Melvin Boggs, a member of the post, was elected junior vice commander.

Ed Parker, quartermaster, reported the Poppy Day sale netted $160.47. William Spires was chairman.

It was announced the post drill team is preparing for two appearances. It will participate in a parade next Thursday at East Palestine and is scheduled to appear in the parade June 12 during the 10th District American Legion convention at Wellsville.

Kenneth Carter announced committees for the building fund will be named at the June 15 meeting.

Continuance Granted In Youth's Entry Case

LISBON — Acting Judge Richard Kennedy of Columbiana County Southwest Area Court continued a preliminary hearing Wednesday for Wesley Thompson Jr., 18, of Minerva, charged with burglary.

In the County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bond since his arrest May 21, Thompson was taken before Judge Kennedy yesterday and said he had no lawyer and no money to hire one.

Judge Joel H. Sharp of Common Pleas Court appointed Howard Cole, Lisbon attorney to represent the youth, who is accused of entering an unoccupied house near Dungannon and taking building materials and tools.

Daniel Delp Jr. of Hanoverton is the property owner. About 50 per cent of Uganda's 7,186,000 inhabitants are believed to be Christians, 5 per cent are Moslem and the remainder pagan.

Outstanding Decorations Add Color To Senior Event

Outstanding decorations highlighted the annual senior banquet of East Liverpool High School Tuesday night at Memorial Auditorium, where 348 seniors and guests were present.

Lettering, spelling the theme "Stairway To Your Future," was suspended over the stage background and spotlighted with colored lights. Graduation diplomas and caps were placed before a white background. The tables were decorated in the school colors of blue and white. Replicas of a girl and boy graduate, encircled with angel hair, formed the centerpieces. Favors were nut cups topped with miniature graduation figurines.

Entertainment and music for dancing was provided by a combo, "The Poor Souls," comprised of Dan Morgan, Dave Burcham, Bob Fannin and Mike Duffy.

Joe Walters was commentator for a humorous skit where 15 seniors impersonated the faculty.

Dave Emmerling, class president, thanked the committees and faculty members who had charge of arrangements.

The Rev. H. Gene Toot of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church gave the invocation.

Guests were members of the Board of Education and their wives and faculty members and their husbands and wives.

How Can I? By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I cope with rust spots on a ceramic tile bathroom floor?

A. — These can be removed with a washing solution composed of one part sodium citrate to six parts of glycerin, adding water to thin the mixture, then mixing with sufficient whitening to form a paste. Spread this compound over the rust spots in a thick coating.

New Officers Are Selected By Ministers

The Rev. C. G. Schlosser of the First Church of the Nazarene was elected president of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association during the final meeting of the 1965-66 term Wednesday morning at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church.

He succeeds the Rev. H. Gene Toot of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church, who presided.

Others elected are: the Rev. Arthur Williams, Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist Church, vice president; the Rev. E. C. Traylor, First Church of Christ, treasurer; Capt. Richard Bosh, Salvation Army, corresponding secretary, and the Rev. Richard Shipley, Longs Run United Presbyterian, recording secretary.

Meetings will resume in the fall when the new officers will assume their duties.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Parents Should Enjoy Their Children

Many a pair of parents have abundant enjoyments with their children growing up with them, and continue these enjoyments after the children have gone from the family. It is hard for me to imagine any other satisfaction so great and abiding.

But from the letters I read, Dr. Garry Myers I infer that some other parents and children spend together hours, days, weeks, months and years when they feel vexed and irritated at one another almost constantly. Very sad, indeed, are some accounts I read of such family unhappiness, especially when the eldest child or children are teen-agers.

I spend a lot of time writing personally to some parents suggesting ways by which they might have more happy times with their children, though I rarely know if my efforts amount to much. I just hope.

PERHAPS THE biggest source of vexation between parents and their children is intellectual guidance and management of them. Whether a child is 2 or 14 he and his parents will often be vexed at one another if he has not learned early and continuously to accept a necessary No as final. When any youngster ignores this word entirely or until it is screamed angrily at him, he is sure to be annoyed on hearing it, and his parent is sure to be vexed at his disobedience.

Of course, the basic source of nice relations between children and their parents are the nice companionable and lovely relationships between the parents, and their success at agreeing on the ways of bringing up the children.

There may be other adults, too, like grandparents in the family who can make the problem of family relations harder, though sometimes easier.

In any family there may arise all sorts of worries, burdens, and encumbrances not immediately related to the children, which can arouse vexations between parents, and may spread to the children. Among them are family finances, fatigue or impaired health of one or more adults there. Yet a good many wonderful parents can rise victoriously even over these.

IF YOU believe you have many irritations between you parents and your children, here are some things you might wish to consider.

Look for ways to cultivate more enjoyable and companionable relations between yourselves as parents. Sit down in private, you and Dad, and enumerate times and areas in which there are strong tensions between one or both parents on one hand and the child or children on the other hand.

Try to figure out together what you parents might do to reduce or eliminate some of these vexations. Look into your forbiddings and requirements and try to figure out if they might be reduced or might be enforced more effectively.

Name to each other the ugly speech and action of a child or children which vex you both most often. Ask yourselves how well you control yourselves then, how calm and reasonable you are. Ask yourselves if you meet ugly utterances and acts by a child with more ugly angry utterances from you.

In all the tragic wordy warfare between child and parent, the parent, having more age and experience is in the vantage place. He or she usually needs to take the initiative in effecting a truce, saying nothing back when the child talks back to him or her.

I JUST wish I knew how to tell parents to act when they see a very vexatious time arising with a child. But of one thing I'm sure: This parent's ability at self-control is the ace card to play then.

My fellow parents, let us often muse when alone on ways we are going to try to do our best to avoid unnecessary vexation in a child toward us, and to prove victorious in dispersing vexations when they occur. I'm sure we parents all can do far more in this direction than we ever have supposed we could.

My bulletins "A Parent's Prayer," "How to Control Your Temper," and "Enjoying Our Children" may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Finance Director Reports

$20 Million Surplus Seen For Ohio In Fiscal Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Finance Director Richard Krabach expects the state to end its fiscal year this month with a $20 million to $25 million surplus he would like to keep in a contingency fund for a possible rainy day.

Most of the surplus comes from sales and use tax collections running far ahead of expectations.

The state also anticipates interest earnings on invested funds to run more than double income from that source a year ago, State Treasurer John D. Herbert said.

Krabach attributed the surplus to a combination of increased revenues and a policy of holding state spending within budget limitations.

The surplus actually might have been higher but Krabach said that the budget drafted for the state's accounting year ending June 30 included an anticipated gain of $21 million in revenues. The $20-$25 million surplus is over and above the budget forecast made two years ago, he explained.

The next legislature will decide how the surplus is to be used. But Krabach wants most of it kept as a reserve to meet possible emergencies that otherwise might create a deficit if revenues drop without a corresponding cut in expenditures.

Some officials said however, the legislature might want to tap the surplus to pay higher state salaries.

Sales tax collections from last July 1 through May 28 totaled $324 million, a gain of $29 million, or 9.8 per cent, over the $295 million for the same period last fiscal year, Herbert said in his latest report.

The state also earned $14.1 million in interest, mainly on U.S. Treasury obligations and time deposits in banks, between July 1 and May 31, an increase of almost $6.8 million dollars over the same period a year ago. The money goes into the state's general fund and into bond retirement funds.

Total earnings on state investments during the previous fiscal year totaled $7.78 million. Herbert expects the total for the current fiscal year to exceed $16 million by month-end.

Child, 6, Admits Role In Harvey Ave. Blaze

Questioned at City Hall Wednesday, a 6-year-old East End youngster admitted a role in a fire last Thursday on Harvey Ave. that damaged a building housing a vacant storeroom and an apartment. Juvenile Officer James Miller reported.

The boy finally told Miller and other officers that he was present, but blamed a not other youngster for actually touching off the blaze. The child was interviewed by Miller, Police Chief A. J. Radeschi, Fire Chief Alfred VanDyne and Asst. Fire Chief James Pelley.

Since the child appears highly nervous, he was referred to his family physician for examination, Miller said.

Phils Sweep Cubs As Rich Allen Continues Hot Pace

Pirates Top Mets; Mays Hits 517th

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

Rich Allen can't throw over 60 feet, but he's having no difficulty hitting over 400.

Philadelphia's star third baseman, who missed 20 games with a dislocated right shoulder, is recuperating in the outfield and making the Phillies healthy with his bat.

Allen drove in four runs — three of them with a 447-foot home run — Wednesday night as the Phillies rallied for a 7-4 victory in the second game and completed a sweep of their doubleheader against Chicago. Philadelphia won the opener 4-3.

It was Allen's second 400-foot homer since returning to the line-up last week. He's had nine hits in 30 swings and shows a season's average of .338. With him back, the Phils have won six of eight.

Elsewhere Wednesday night, Willie Mays hit his 517th career homer as San Francisco edged Atlanta 4-3. Los Angeles blanked St. Louis 1-0 on Sandy Koufax' seven-hitter. Houston shut out Cincinnati 2-0 and Pittsburgh downed New York 3-1.

After Allen's tape measure homer, shortstop Bobby Wine broke the tie with the first of two doubles and then the Phillies pulled away.

In the first game, Tony Taylor's eighth inning single brought Bill White home with the winning run. Chicago's Lee Thomas was cut down at home plate on a relay from Tony Gonzalez to Dick Groat to Bob Uecker for the final out of the game as he tried to score the tying run.

Mays' two-run homer in the first inning was an inside-the-park shot that broke off Mack Jones' glove as he and Hank Aaron collided. Willie McCovey followed with a solo homer and Jim Davenport hit one in the sixth.

Mays' homer pushed him within four of Ted Williams, who is third on the all-time list. The Giants used three relief pitchers to stave off a last-ditch Atlanta rally in the ninth with Lindy McDaniel coming on to get the last two outs.

Koufax struck out nine and walked just one in gaining his ninth victory in 10 decisions. He got the only run he needed in the seventh when Willie Davis tripled and came home on Bob Tolans error.

Dave Giusti and Claude Raymond combined on Houston's five-hit shutout of the Reds, who dropped their fifth in a row. Jim Wynn drove in one run with a single and Rusty Staub homered for the other Astro run.

Maury Alou drove in one run and scored another in the Pirates victory over the Mets. Don Cardwell got credit for his first victory after four losses although he needed last-out help from Al McBean to halt a Mets' threat in the ninth.

OSU To Open Defense Of Diamond Title

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State opened defense of its NCAA District 4 baseball title today in a double elimination tournament with three other schools.

The Buckeyes (19-5), Big Ten winner and national runnerup in last year's NCAA Championship, were pegged against Valparaiso (15-5) while Mid-American Conference titlist Western Michigan (19-3) was to tangle with Southern Illinois (27-17).

The victor here, to be determined Saturday, advances to Omaha, Neb., June 13 for the state of the College World Series.

In Springfield, Wittenberg (10-4) played host to Illinois State (27-2) in the college division NCAA mid-east regional. Union University (19-7) of Jackson, Tenn., opposed Youngstown (16-3).

The winners meet Friday for the champions.

Johnny-On-Spot In Relief

Podres Halts Twins For 2nd Victory; Kansas City Routs Indians, 8-3

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

It's taken two months — and two leagues — but Johnny Podres finally has pitched nine innings.

Podres, acquired from the Los Angeles Dodgers last month, continued his strong pitching for Detroit Wednesday night as he posted his second straight victory with 3 1-3 innings of one-hit relief work in the Tigers' 9-4 triumph over Minnesota.

The 33-year-old left-hander now has made six appearances for the Tigers and allowed only four hits and two runs while running his work for the season to nine innings. Over the first month he had pitched only 1 2-3 innings for the Dodgers.

And he didn't like it.

"I just want to go somewhere where I can pitch," Podres said when he was traded. "I threw the ball good all spring and my arm feels good now. But you get out of shape pitching 1 2-3 innings in a month."

Podres, who has been plagued the last two years by arm trouble, figured as a starter with the Dodgers during the Sandy Koufax-Don Drysdale holdout siege but became expendable when the Dodger ace signed. The Tigers grabbed him for cash and a player to be named later.

Against the Twins, Podres came on in the fourth inning with two men on and two out.

He walked Jim Hall, but bore down and got Tony Oliva on a grounder to first. He allowed only a single by Harmon Killebrew before leaving for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

Elsewhere, Baltimore outlasted California 9-7 in 10 innings. Kansas City walloped Cleveland 8-3, the Chicago White Sox downed the New York Yankees 6-2 and Washington whipped Boston 6-3 before the Red Sox took the night cap 5-0.

Al Kaline drove in four runs for the Tigers but Jerry Lumpe supplied the key hit with a two-run single in the seventh inning that snapped a 3-3 tie.

Jerry Adair won it for the Orioles with a tie-breaking pinch-hit single in the 10th after Baltimore had filled the bases on singles by Paul Blair and Dave Johnson and a walk to Andy Etchebarren. Luis Aparicio's sacrifice fly produced an insurance run.

Boog Powell hit two homers and Andy Etchebarren one but the Orioles still had to play catch up, tying the Angels 7-7 in the eighth on a double by Brooks Robinson and a pinch-hit single by Frank Robinson.

The A's tagged Indians' starter John O'Donoghue and two successors for 13 hits, including homers by Ed Charles and Ken Harrelson and triples by Dick Green and Danny Cater. Green's triple and a single by Joe Nosske in the sixth inning broke a 3-3 tie and put Kansas City ahead to stay.

Tom Tresh's error and singles by Tom Agee, Bill Skowron and Floyd Robinson gave the White Sox two runs in the third inning. Then Agee scored what turned out to be the decisive run in the fifth when he walked, stole home and came all the way home on Bill Skowron's grounder.

Two-run doubles by Bob Chance and Dick Nen in the last two innings brought the Senators their opening game victory. The Red Sox took the nightcap as Bob Sadowski and Jose Santiago checked the Senators on three hits and Rico Petrocelli collected his ninth homer.

In 1½-Mile Belmont Saturday

Trainers Begin Mapping Plans To Beat Kauai King

NEW YORK (AP) — Trainers of nine 3-year-olds mapped today the strategy which they hope will carry their finely tuned thoroughbreds to victory Saturday in the 98th running of the Belmont Stakes and ruin favored Kauai Kings bid for the turf's Triple Crown.

To some the strategy calls for sending their horses out in front at the start of the 1½ miles with the hope that they'll have enough left to win when they reach the home stretch.

To others the plans call for keeping Kauai King within range and hoping their horses can outfinish the winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness.

A third group includes those who'll have their horses trail far off the early pace and then attempt to strike fast in the stretch, when the leaders are expected to tire.

But to a man, the trainers agree that the best thing they have going for them is the last quarter-mile of Aqueduct's racing oval. They are not sure their charges can go 1½ miles. But neither are they sure that Kauai King can do it. None ever have raced that far and only one—King Ranch's Buffle—ever has worked the Belmont distance.

Canny Max Hirsch, who has saddled four Belmont winners, sent Buffle 1½ miles over Belmont Park's main track. His time was 2:37.35.

Michael Ford, owner of Kauai King has remained confident. And well he should. The son of Native Dancer has never looked better. To that all trainers agree. He turned in an impressive workout Tuesday, going 1½ miles in 1:54. And he has been made the 4-5 choice to earn the winner's share of $116,450 of a gross purse of $160,200.

Entries will be made Friday morning. Post time will be 5:15 p.m. EDT Saturday with New York racing officials looking for a crowd of 65,000 up. CBS will televise the classic.

In addition to Kauai King and Buffle, the Belmont runners will be Advocate, Rehabilitate, Fast Count, Fleet Shoe, Amberoid, Highest Honor and Valam.

Medics Post 4th Straight LL Victory

The Medics edged Parsons Coal, 12-11 and Golden Star routed Travelers Hotel, 22-3 in a pair of Little League contests Wednesday.

The victory was the fourth straight for the Medics who out-hit Parsons 20-9. Steve Hayes was the winning pitcher with Fred Parfitt the loser. Rick Aaron with two doubles and two singles and Steve Lockhart with three hits paced the Medics at the plate but Steve Black drove in the winning run.

Steve Smith collected four hits and Steve Frederick had a pair of doubles for the losers.

Golden Star unleashed a 19-hit attack and took advantage of eight Travelers' errors.

Jigs Carter and Eric Hoppel had on their hitting shoes with five hits each. Mike Boughner doubled and singled for Travelers.

Sizable discoveries of phosphate deposits have been made in the Spanish Sahara.

Indians Acquire Radatz From Red Sox In Trade

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox today traded relief pitcher Dick Radatz to the Cleveland Indians for right-handers Lee Stange and Don McMahon.

The 29-year-old Radatz, who had been a sensational relief pitcher for Boston from 1962 through 1964 when he was twice named "Fireman of the Year," had a disappointing 1965 season and to date this year has an 0-2 record in 16 relief appearances.

Boston obtains a 29-year-old starter and reliever in Stange, who has a major league record of 33 wins and 26 losses since he came up with the Minnesota Twins in 1961. He was traded to Cleveland in June, 1964.

In seven games with the pitcher-er-rich Indians this year he had a record of one win and no losses.

Newell Rips Foe, 25-9, In S. Side League Contest

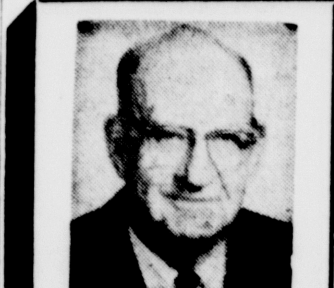

Newell pounded out 20 hits and ran up a 25-9 victory over Hookstown in a South Side Hot Stove Junior Division game Wednesday.

Dick Tipton was the winning pitcher and also had four hits to lead his team at the plate. Horoszko, Jividen and Peck had three hits each.

Vandine led Hookstown with three of his team's six hits.

49ers' Brodie Leaning To Possible AFL Deal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Quarterback John Brodie of the San Francisco 49ers has thrown the ball to an attorney in lining up for his 1966 contract negotiations while the price war between pro football leagues rages.

The 31-year-old veteran, who set a National Football League completion record last season, engaged John Elliot Cook to represent him.

That came just a day after Don Klosterman, general manager for Houston in the American Football League, told of talks with the 49er star in the Texas city.

In San Francisco, that brought immediate speculation that the former Stanford great might be considering a switch of allegiance.

Brodie politely refused to discuss the situation. Asked about the Houston visit, he said, "I read a lot in the papers about the trip."

The 49ers say Brodie's 1965 contract contained the option clause for his services in 1966. Under established club policy, officials would not discuss either prior contracts or present negotiations.

There were reports the ace passer received in the neighborhood of $40,000 last year and wanted $75,000 this time, perhaps spaced over a number of years.

Klosterman said he and Brodie have been friends for years and admitted they discussed football during the week-end. The Houston official added that Brodie "feels that the Pete Gogolak deal opened up a new avenue for him."

New York of the NFL signed kicking specialist Gogolak this spring after he played out his option with Buffalo of the AFL last fall.

Nancy Richey Wins, To Face Net Favorite

PARIS (AP) — Nancy Richey, the determined little 23-year-old star from Texas, has cleared another hurdle in her bid to win the women's singles title in the French International Tennis Tournament.

Miss Richey's major road block is just ahead, though, because her opponent in the semi-finals will be Margaret Smith of Australia, the tournament favorite.

The Dallas girl, coholder of the No. 1 ranking in the United States, beat Annette Van Zyl of South Africa 3-6, 6-3, 6-2 and Miss Smith, the Wimbledon champion, eliminated Julie Heldman of New York 6-2, 6-2 in quarter-final matches Wednesday.

The American doubles team of Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., and Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, beat Martin Mulligan of Australia and Cliff Drysdale of South Africa 6-3, 9-7, 6-0 in a quarter-final match.

The U.S. Davis Cup pair next faces Russia's Alexander Metreveli and Alexander Likatchev, who downed Mike Sangster and Bobby Wilson of Britain 6-3, 6-4, 6-2.

In other women's quarter-final matches, Maria Bueno of Brazil beat Francoise Durr of France 3-6, 6-4, 6-4 and Ann Haydon Jones of Britain defeated Helga Schultze, also of Britain, 6-4, 6-4.

3-5 Race Favorite

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Cardigan Bay drew outside Bret Hanover Wednesday and was made the early 3-5 favorite to again defeat his 4-year-old rival in Saturday night's $50,000 Revenge Pace at Roosevelt Raceway. The 10-year-old CB drew No. 5 post position and Bret No. 4 in the five-horse field.

Uruguay, smallest of the South American countries, is slightly larger than South Dakota.

Halas Expects League To Gang Up On Sayers

NEW YORK (AP) — George Halas expects the rest of the league to gang up on Gale Sayers this coming season.

"They'd better," said the 71-year-old owner-coach of the Chicago Bears.

Halas was in town with other coaches in the National Football League for a two-day series of meetings with Mark Duncan, head of league officials.

"We know they are going to defense the heck out of Sayers, and rightfully so," said Halas.

"I think it will open up other avenues of our offense. We expect it. We have been preparing for it all winter."

"It would not be fair to Sayers to expect him to have as great a year as last. But we do think we can open up a little more. We have Ron Bull back there and Andy Livingston, plus several others. And Johnny Morris on the flank and Jim Jones and Dick Gordon at split end."

As a rookie from Kansas, Sayers set a league record with 22 touchdowns last season and tied a one-game mark by scoring six touchdowns in one game against San Francisco on Dec. 5.

"I was on the other side both times when fellows scored six touchdowns before," said Halas. "Ernie Nevers got six against us with the old Chicago Cardinals and Dub Jones got six for Cleveland in a game with the Bears. This was by far the most spectacular."

"I will tell you something I never told before. The only reason Gale didn't get a chance to score a seventh when we had the ball on the four with two or three minutes to go, was that he had bruised his knee in the last quarter. He wanted to go in but I couldn't take a chance with a man's career."

The Meadows Will Open 4th Season Friday Night

A $4,000 Invitational Trot will be the headline as The Meadows swings into its fourth season of harness racing on Friday night.

Both of last year's leading drivers will have strong starts in the night's top race. Tom Wilburn, leading dash winning driver of 1965 will start Sudden Hanover while Bruce Nickells, leading percentage driver, will go with Princess Anita.

Another of the top reinsman last year, Ellwood City's Bill Poczta, is scheduled to start Spin Speed.

But the favorite in the race is likely to be Rum Coke, a five-year-old which has reached peak form this year campaigning in the rugged Atlantic Seaboard Series where he won recently at Rockingham Park in New Hampshire.

Full fields in each of the night's nine races have been scheduled by Race Secretary Joe De Frank. Post time is 8:30 p.m.

Cardenas Earns Respect As Reds Clutch Hitter

CINCINNATI (AP) — Leo Cardenas' fielding is taken for granted. But now the little shortstop is earning a lot of respect as a clutch hitter for the Cincinnati Reds.

Leo is not a Willie Mays at the plate, but opposing pitchers have learned not to take him too lightly. And Cardenas is not awed in facing the likes of Juan Marichal or Sandy Koufax.

Tuesday night, for example, Cardenas blasted two home runs off Marichal, spoiling the San Francisco star right-hander's bid for a third shutout and ending his string of 30 scoreless innings.

"That Cardenas, he hits me every time," complained Marichal. "I have to start something new for him."

Right-handed or left-handed, makes no difference to Leo. He also homered off Koufax the only time the Reds faced the Los Angeles Dodgers' ace southpaw this season.

"I don't care whether the pitcher is left-handed or right-handed," says Leo. "I have no batting plan. I just hit away."

One of Leo's memorable home runs came on Aug. 19, 1965. He clouted a 10th inning round-tripper off Larry Jackson to give Jim Maloney a 1-0, no-hit victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Last year, Cardenas led the National League in intentional bases on balls with 25. He batted .287 in 156 games, got 160 hits, drove in 57 runs, had 11 triples and 11 homers. Not bad for a guy who bats near the end of the lineup.

At 160 pounds, Cardenas is the smallest player on the team. His fielding borders on the sensational at times.

"I've never seen an infielder in all my years of baseball who gets off difficult throws from any position with as much on the ball as he does," says Reds Manager Don Heckner.

But Cardenas takes his fielding casually. Like many players he believes a good bat is the big thing in baseball.

Stephens grabbed the lead Wednesday by firing a par 70 at the Churchill Valley Country Club, giving him a 36-hole total of 144.

Tied at 146 were Dick Graciano of the host club and Bill Kelley Jr. of Johnstown.

Koufax Won't Jinx Himself After 9th Win

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Sandy Koufax does not mind putting the hex on Juan Marichal and he gets paid for doing it to opposing hitters, but you won't find him jinxing himself.

"Sure Marichal has a chance to win 30," he laughed after blanking the St. Louis Cardinals 1-0 Wednesday night to stay one victory behind the San Francisco hurler.

But asked about his own chances, dandy Sandy only reminded writers about last year.

"You asked me then about Don Drysdale and myself and I gave you an answer," he said. "Then Don and I couldn't win a game for weeks."

But answer or not, Koufax is off to a better start at 9-1 than last season when he finished at 26-8. He did not win his ninth game last season until June 12.

Koufax, who along with Marichal got off to a late start this year because of contract problems, indicated the best still is yet to come.

"This is the best I've thrown all year," he said after allowing the Cardinals only seven hits, several of the fluke variety. "I had a good fast ball, good curve and good control and even got a couple of fork balls in for strikes."

He lowered his earned run average to 1.48, still behind Marichal's 0.80 and 10-0 record. But both are ahead of the 1934 30-game pace of Dizzy Dean, last major leaguer to win 30.

Marietta Driver To Pilot Hill's In Race Sunday

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Larry Dickson of Marietta, Ohio, Indianapolis 500-mile auto race rookie, was named Wednesday to drive winner Graham Hill's car in the Rex Mays Memorial race at Milwaukee Sunday.

Hill, of London, piloted the Lola-Ford to victory Memorial Day in first try at the auto classic.

Dickson finished 32nd in the 33-car field when his Halibrand-Ford was wiped out in the first-lap pile-up which eliminated a third of the starting field.

Hill's car, owned by John McCormac, was scheduled to be driven at Milwaukee by two-time Indianapolis winner Roger Ward of Indianapolis, who unexpectedly announced his retirement from the sport at the Speedway victory banquet Tuesday night.

Aaron Doesn't Feel Mays Should Have Had Home Run

ATLANTA (AP) — Willie Mays has moved a notch closer to third place on the all-time home run list, but another famous slugger doesn't think the San Francisco belter deserves his latest homer.

"Mack Jones or I should have caught the ball," Atlanta's Henry Aaron said of Mays' first-inning blast Wednesday night. The fleet Giant turned the hit into an inside-the-park home run that ignited San Francisco's 4-3 conquest of the Braves.

"Mack got his glove on the ball, but we ran into each other and the ball popped out," Aaron said. "Then when I tried to pick it up after it hit the center field fence I grabbed a handful of cinders with the ball and dropped it."

"By then Willie was on his way, but if I had not dropped it I could have held him to a triple."

Mays slid home just ahead of the throw to the plate and was given his 12th home run of the season by the official scorer — the 517th of his career. He needs just four more to tie Ted Williams for third on the home run chart.

Waterford To Observe Racing's Anniversary

The 300th anniversary of the start of horse racing in this country will be observed at Waterford Park Friday night, with colorful ceremonies which will usher in the track's 79th summer race meeting. Post time is 7:15 p. m.

Four horses in a walk - up start will race one mile to reenact the first horse race which has run at New Market course, Long Island. They will be ridden by jockeys using long stirrups and wearing 17th century racing garb of solid color weskits and extended peak caps. The outfits were used in a similar ceremony at Aqueduct race course on May 15.

For the winner's circle ceremony there will be men and women dressed in cavalier costumes with wigs and plumed hats — the fashion 300 years ago. The trophy to be presented is a copy of the silver porringer bowl given the winner of a 1668 race at New Market. It is both the oldest racing trophy and the oldest piece of American silver.

The original porringer is on display in the Fine Arts Gallery at Yale University, New Haven, Conn. Its inscription reads: "1668 wunn at Hapstedt Plaines, March 25." It is a priceless historic piece.

The 300th anniversary of horse racing in the United States goes back to September of 1664 when Colonel Richard Nicholls, in command of a British expeditionary force, sailed into New York harbor and without firing a shot induced the Dutch to surrender.

During the succeeding winter, Colonel Nicholls, who was the first governor of New York, ordered the first measured mile race course to be laid out on the Hempstead Plains of Long Island, or where Garden City stands today. It was nostalgically called the New Market after the famed English course.

The first full racing program was run at the new course in 1666, or 109 years before Paul Revere rode his first big winner in Massachusetts from Charleston to Lexington in 1775.

The horses in America at the time were not thoroughbreds but probably calvary horses. Details of the first horse racing are spotty since there was no Daily Racing form to chronicle the action. But it is known that thoroughbreds trace their pedigree in a straight line to one of three foundation sires and the earliest of these sires, the Byerly Turk, wasn't brought to England until 1680.

Toledo Gains Deadlock For First Place

By The Associated Press

Toledo moved into a virtual tie for first place with International League leader Columbus Wednesday night with an 8-4 victory over Richmond.

Meanwhile Jacksonville was knocking off Columbus 2-0 to move within a half-game of the Mud Hens and Jets.

Rochester and Toronto traded shutouts, the Maple Leafs taking the opener 8-0 and the Red Wings romping in the nightcap 11-0. The Syracuse-at-Buffalo encounter was postponed because of cold weather.

The Wednesday night defeat was Richmond's 11th in 16 starts away from home.

Toledo overcame a 4-2 Richmond lead with a five-run sixth that included four hits, two walks and two errors. Joe Farcic's two-run single was the big blow.

The Mud Hens moved within seven percentage points of Columbus.

Larry Miller scattered six hits in pitching Jacksonville past Columbus. A walk led to the Sun's first run, and a bases-loaded walk forced in the second.

Jail's Prisoners At High For Year

LISBON — Columbiana County Jail last month booked 82 prisoners — the largest number for any month this year, Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan reports in his May summary.

Thirty-one prisoners were confined as of the end of April.

The sheriff said 75 prisoners were released in May and six were taken to state institutions. Deputies took two mental patients to state hospitals. There were 146 visitors at the jail last month.

The jail served 2,824 meals last month at a cost of $1,112.38, or an average daily cost of $1.17 per prisoner, the sheriff said.

His office in the Courthouse accepted 24 sets of fox feet and ears for the $3 bounty last month. Deputies served 337 papers and handed 5,611 radio transmissions and 1,116 telephone calls at the jail. Fees totaling $770.85 were collected.

Students Are Urged To Join Peace Corps

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Sargent Shriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, has appealed for college students to join the Peace Corps or the war against poverty.

Shriver said at Morehouse College:

"I suggest that in 20 years, the man who joined the Peace Corps, the Job Corps, will be ahead of the one who played it cool."

Call Off Celebration

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — Lawrence County observes its sesquicentennial this year — so what? So lack of interest by the populace, says the Ironton Chamber of Commerce, has led it to call off plans for a celebration in October.

Boy Drowns In Pond

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP) — A pond at his farm home claimed the life Wednesday of Michael Wise, 2, a son of Mr. and Mrs. David Wise who live north of nearby Polk.

You Can Learn By Watching Golf Stars, Newcomer Says

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — "You can't watch Jack Nicklaus, Tony Lema, Gene Littler and the others without learning and improving."

That's the observation of Randy Petri, a pro golf newcomer in the field for today's first round of the $100,000 Memphis Open.

Petri, who helped the NCAA title a year ago, joined the pro tour in January.

"In college, you ran into a dozen or so good golfers a year," Petri said. "In the PGA, there are 144 of them every week, and they're all capable of 65."

Littler birdied five holes and eagled another Wednesday in posting his seven-under-par 63 — equaling the Colonial Country Club course record.

When Nicklaus won the 1965 Memphis Open by beating Johnny Pott in the playoff, he collected $9,000. This year's winner will get $20,000 — the amount of the total purse when the first Memphis Open was held in 1958.

Colonial is the smallest course on the PGA circuit — only 6,466 yards long. Accuracy is the big factor in winning here — not the short distance.

Out Of The Air

By RICHARD K. DOAN
The Quality Verdict

A jury of the country's top TV critics has issued its own verdict on developments in the medium during the past year.

The 12 geographically scattered reviewers singled out only four "exceptional contributions" to TV — one a prize play, one an individual, one a network, Richard Doan one a sponsor. The winners: "Death of a Salesman," CBS' two-hour teleplay on May 8.

Xerox Corp. for sponsoring not only "Death of a Salesman" but such documentaries as "The Making of the President 1964" and the United Nations dramatic specials.

Fred W. Friendly, former CBS News president, for "encouraging international debate" via the "Town Meeting of the World" telecasts, "for conceiving meaningful national audience-involvement tests," for pioneering TV debate on Viet Nam, "for dedication to high standards of TV journalism," "for courageous news documentaries," "for refusing to recognize or take part in the Emmy awards," and "for resigning to protest CBS' failure to provide complete live coverage of Senate hearings on Viet Nam."

NBC, for its Senate hearings coverage, for costarring a Negro, Bill Cosby, in "I Spy," and "for all-color pioneering."

THE CITATIONS were the first to be issued by the reviewers, who formed a Critics Consensus at the suggestion of Harry Harris of the Philadelphia Inquirer.

By agreement, the critics limited their "winners" to those nominated without consultation by at least two-thirds of their number.

Harris disclosed in announcing the poll that "Salesman" and Xerox each received 11 votes, Friendly 9, NBC 8.

One short of the required eight voted for CBS' "Color Me Barbra" as exceptional variety entertainment, and half the reviewers considered "CBS Reports: KKK—The Invisible Empire" an outstanding documentary.

FIVE VOTES EACH went to National Educational Television, to NBC's "Who Shall Live?" to NBC's "Julie Andrews Show," to CBS' audience-involvement tests and to coverage of Pope Paul's visit by all networks.

Harris noted that the four choices of the Critics Consensus were "an interesting contrast to the multiplicity of Emmy awards" handed out May 22.

ABC's grandiose plans to devote an entire TV evening to the subject of Africa is the beginning of a long-range project which envisions a similar telecast yearly about a different continent, it has been disclosed in trade circles.

The initial broadcast, tentatively planned for next April, is expected to set the network back more than $3 million.

It will be available for sponsorship, however, which would enable ABC to recoup some of the expenses.

According to tentative plans, "The Continents: Africa" would be followed by a 1968 evening focused on South America.

The network expects to involve its entertainment, news, sports and public affairs departments in the three-and-a-half-hour undertaking in an attempt to break new ground in the TV documentary field. ABC Radio will also participate.

James Fleming, a veteran TV producer, has been hired to head up the Africa project. Newsman Blaine Littell will be the on-the-scene supervisor.

8 From County Head To Service

LISBON — Columbiana County Selective Service Board 16 forwarded eight men to Cleveland this morning for induction in the armed services, completing the June call.

In the contingent were Lisbon brothers Richard H. Reynolds Jr. and Floyd A. Reynolds R.D. 5; Larry T. Charnesky, 1132 Liberty St., Salem; Edwin R. Sheen and Wayne F. Smith, Hanoverton; Robert R. Stoll, East Rochester; George R. McWilliams, 1045 Township Line Rd., Wellsville, and Timothy L. Archer of Kent, formerly of 1263 Erie St., East Liverpool.

Board 16 also sent 101 men for pre-induction physical examinations. They and the draftees boarded three special buses at the VFW home on E. Lincoln Way.

The board had a call for 147 for physicals, but a large number of students have graduation exercises this week and were excused until July.

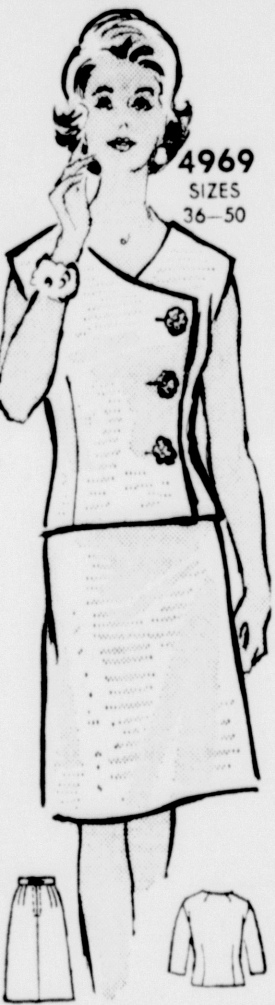

Expense Report Filed By 3 More Candidates

Three more candidates who sought nomination at the May 3 primaries have filed campaign expense reports with the County Election Board.

James W. Boyd of near East Liverpool, renominated for county commissioner on the Republican ticket, listed expenses of $482.75. Robert J. Dutcher of Salem R. D. 3, one of the defeated GOP commissioner aspirants, said he spent $312.01. State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel, unopposed for the renomination on the Republican ticket, said he spent nothing.

June 17 at 4 p. m. is the deadline for the reports. They are required of all candidates as well as from committees which supported or opposed any candidate or issue.

Firm Scheduled To Renew Work On New Auto Lot

The Tri-State Asphalt Corp. of Martins Ferry was scheduled to send men and equipment to East Liverpool today to renew work on a contract for preparation of the so-called Ceramic Annex parking lot.

The firm will complete the grading on the big site and then apply a temporary slag surface. Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey. Then the lot will be opened to free parking for about a month to help compact the earth before blacktop surfacing is applied.

Work on the project has been under way since last fall. The city acquired properties fronting on E. 3rd St. — at the rear of the present Ceramic Lot — and then razed the structures. A metal crib wall was erected on the E. 3rd St. side to allow the level of the new lot to be built up to a grade compatible with the Ceramic Lot.

The new site will provide spaces for approximately 70 cars. Bonds issued to pay for the project will be amortized out of parking receipts.

Health Insurance Benefits Listed

This is the first in a series of articles by Robert V. Harris, social security district manager here, explaining what you can expect when health insurance benefits go into effect. The series is based on the Medicare Handbook being released this month.

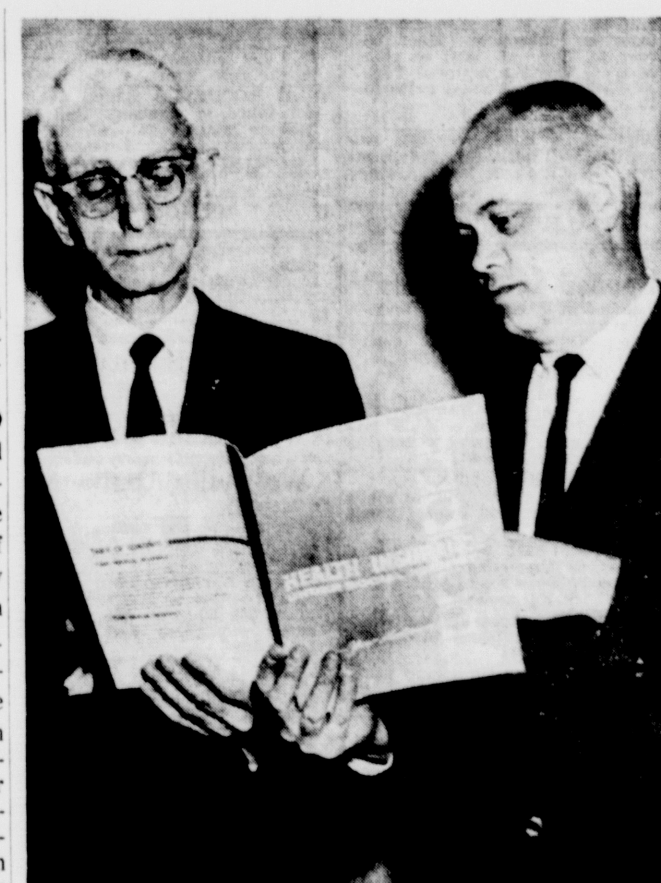

By ROBERT V. HARRIS

On July 1, about 19 million older Americans will be protected under medicare's hospital insurance program.

More than 17 million — the 9 out of 10 — who have signed up for the supplementary medical insurance also will have protection for the payment of doctor bills and a wide variety of other medical services, even if they do not go to the hospital.

The Social Security Administration, the agency responsible for running medicare, has been hard at work since last summer informing Americans 65 or over of their rights under medicare, enrolling them in the voluntary medical insurance plan and setting up the machinery that will begin to roll July 1.

HOSPITALS, doctors and insurance organizations have been consulted and have taken part in formulating the policies for the health insurance program, and all policies have been considered by the Health Insurance Benefits Advisory Council, a 16-

ROBERT MILBY of East Liverpool is shown receiving the first Medicare Handbook distributed in the East Liverpool—Chester—Newell area from Robert Harris, manager of the social security office here. Milby has elected to be covered by medical insurance under medicare. He retired from the Hall China Co. in 1961, after 26 years with the firm and more than 50 years in the pottery industry.

member group, appointed under the law to advise on medicare policy. Records have been set up for everyone 65 or over who is eligible for hospital and medical insurance under medicare and health insurance identification cards already have been sent to most of the people who have signed up for both parts of the medicare program. Cards for people who have hospital insurance protection, but did not sign up for medical insurance, will be sent out during June.

Also being sent to medicare beneficiaries during June is a book on health insurance under social security. It is called "Your Medicare Handbook," and contains all the information each person over 65 should need to take part in medicare.

THE HANDBOOK explains how the two health insurance plans work and tells what services are covered and how payments will be made. It also includes a copy of the simple form to be used in requesting payment of doctor's bills under the medical insurance program.

The handbook also has a listing of all the Blue Shield and private insurance organizations that will be handling medical insurance claims, so beneficiaries may quickly see where to send their payment claims for doctor bills, home health services and other services included in the supplementary plan.

"Your Medicare Handbook" is designed as a ready source of information and guidance for each person covered by medicare. Along with the red, white and blue health insurance identification cards, it is the older American's key to his medicare protection.

AFL-CIO Seeking Ohio Vote On Equitable Apportionment Plan

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Ohio AFL-CIO is on record in favor of putting an "equitable apportionment plan" before Ohio voters.

The nearly 2,200 delegates to the labor organization's three-day biennial convention opening here Wednesday unanimously approved a resolution demanding that the legislature put such a plan on the 1967 fall ballot.

The resolution also called on the General Assembly to reshape Ohio congressional districts so that they are near equal in population and to place on the ballot a constitutional guarantee provision containing suitable safeguards against future congressional district gerrymandering.

Ohio labor should be ready to take action if the legislature fails to act, the resolution said. It was reported that this action would be to get the issue before the voters through a referendum.

HARRISBURG (AP) — Alleghenya attorney James E. Rowley will be occupying the new seat on Common Pleas Court in Beaver County.

Rowley, 39, was confirmed unanimously by the Senate Wednesday for the second judgeship created by the 1965 legislature.

The Senate also confirmed 48-0 the appointment of George E. Ritter of Ridgway as an associate judge for Elk County. He succeeds the late Albert A. Cliffe.

Both men will serve until January, 1968. Both seats will go up for a full 10-year term in November, 1967.

Also confirmed 48-0 were

Junior Editors Quiz on WORD SQUARES

QUESTION: Where did crossword puzzles come from?

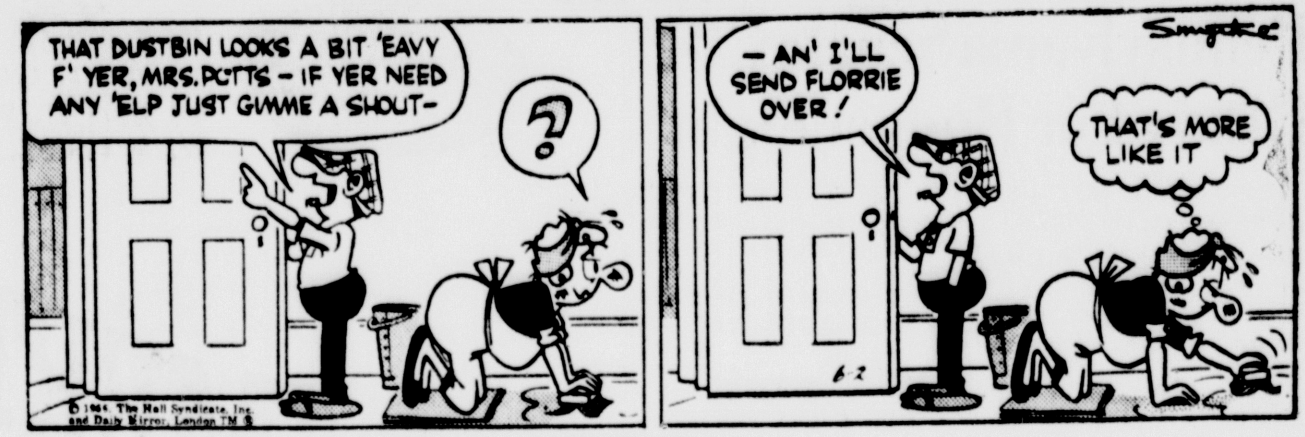

ANSWER: During the 19th century, in England, simple puzzles called "word squares" were printed in children's books with words arranged so the letters read the same both down and across. This idea developed into the modern crossword puzzle. The first one appeared in the New York World Dec. 21, 1913. People enjoyed them so much that by 1923 they were being published all over the U.S.—and soon reappeared in England in their modern form.

The idea of the crossword puzzle is that each letter you put in an empty box is part of two words, one going across and one down. This makes many of the words cross each other; hence the name "crossword puzzle". Unused squares are in black. Numbers appear in the first of each group of vacant squares which you are to fill with a word, some words going across and some down. You can find out which is which by checking the number on the printed key under the puzzle. This key also gives clues to the words. We show a very small crossword puzzle. We have filled in one word to show how it works.

FOR YOU TO DO: Try a crossword puzzle in your newspaper. To warn you up for the real thing, do the tiny puzzle we include. Here's the key: Across—1. Enthusiast, 4. Our Country, 5. Bite, DOWN—1. Enjoyment, 2. Spanish word meaning "thus", 3. Short sleep.

Arthur Belanger of Shrewsbury, Mass., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.

Pennsylvania Senate GOP Ready For Budget Fight

HARRISBURG (AP) — Senate Republicans are prepared to move quickly should the budget fight with the Democratic House extend beyond June 30, the end of the current fiscal year.

Senate Appropriations Chairman Robert D. Fleming, R-Allegheny, Wednesday introduced three bills to provide the state with emergency operating funds for a three-month period beginning July 1.

"I introduced them in anticipation that we might become deadlocked," Fleming said. "I'm hopeful that we won't need them, but prospects of an early settlement are dim. If nothing tangible develops, I may bring them out of committee next week."

Fleming's move came as the House passed 10 bills, valued at $2.5 million, of its 200-plus-bill package to finance the bulk of state spending for the fiscal year.

The House, at the urging of appropriations chairman Martin P. Mullen, decided on the voluminous package line-listing appropriations for individual programs in an attempt to establish tighter legislative control over the budget.

Republican Minority Leader Kenneth B. Lee said his caucus would attempt to revert the Mullen package back to the form of the general appropriations bill approved previously by the Senate.

Normally, the bulk of state government spending is encompassed in one general appropriations bill such as that approved by the Senate. But this measure was shelved by Mullen's Appropriations Committee.

The remainder of the Mullen package is in position for a final vote, but it appears that the next move is up to the Senate.

Fleming said that he hoped the leaders from both chambers could settle their differences amicably, but if they don't, he was prepared to send the issue to a joint conference committee.

The Senate general appropriations bill totaled $1.290 billion — about $6.9 million over that requested in the administration's budget proposal.

Mullen's package was incomplete, but his recommended appropriations thus far were some $7 million lower than that of the Senate.

In other action: PIDA — The Senate approved, 48-0, a $20 million appropriation for the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority and sent the bill to Gov. Scranton for his signature.

Schools — House Democrats reported out of committee a bill to pay school districts a $34 million subsidy bonus for the 1966-67 school year. The Scranton administration had a proposal passed by the Senate previously this session that would permit school districts pressed for funds to borrow money in advance of their regular subsidy payment. This was rejected by the House.

Textbooks — The House sent to the Senate, 185-16, a proposal to exempt the sale of all college textbooks.

Car Carrying 10 Burns After Route 62 Crash

Ten were injured in a two-car crash on Route 62, four miles east of the Stark County line, Wednesday at 10:10 p. m., according to the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Officers said the crash involved cars operated by Orda Harmon Graham, 30, of Beloit R. D. 2 and Roderick Kouskouris, 16, of Alliance R. D. 5.

Graham turned west onto Route 62 from 12th St., Alliance, and was hit in the rear by the Kouskouris car, the patrol said. The Graham car caught fire after the impact.

Kouskouris was admitted to Alliance City Hospital with multiple lacerations of the forehead and right eye and possible fractures of the skull and wrist.

Nine of the 10 occupants in the Graham car were hurt. A 2-month-old child escaped injury. Clyde Seabolt, 19, of Alliance, one of the passengers in Graham's auto, suffered first- and second-degree burns of the face and hands.

The others were not seriously injured.

Three other accidents in the county were investigated Wednesday night.

Donald Keith Eiferd, 19, of the Cannons Mills Rd. escaped injury when his 1963 convertible went into a ditch along Route 30 at Cannons Mills about midnight.

Officers said he was southbound on Route 30 when he lost control, went off the side of the highway and over an embankment into the ditch.

John Joseph Kalcevic, 19, of Beaver Falls also escaped injury when his 1963 convertible rolled over on Route 170, two-tenths of a mile south of East Palestine Wednesday at 11:20.

He was northbound when he lost control on a sharp curve. The convertible went over an embankment and overturned, officers said.

A car operated by James LeRoy Derringer, 18, of Lotz Dr., East Palestine, struck a parked pickup truck owned by Harold Green of Negley Wednesday at 7:50 along Route 170 almost three miles south of East Palestine.

He was southbound when he lost control on a sharp curve, slid off the berm and hit the rear of the truck. Derringer was cited for reckless operation.

Trade And Industrial School To Honor 341 At Graduation

Certificates of completion will be presented to the largest class of adult students in the history of the Weirton Trade and Industrial School during ceremonies at the Milltop Community Center June 10 at 7:30 p. m.

A total of 341 adults who have attended night classes at the school since last September will be honored at the program.

The public is invited to attend the graduation ceremonies, which will feature an address by Dr. Paul N. Elbin, president of the West Liberty State College.

Following the address, certificates will be presented by G. W. Gould, vice president - operations at the Weirton Steel Division of the National Steel Corp.

The Rev. Mr. David Stone, executive director of the Weirton Christian Center, will give the invocation and Robert Hall, superintendent of Hancock County schools, will serve as program chairman.

Members of the graduating class attended night classes from September through May under the Trade and Industrial program conducted through the cooperation of Weirton Steel, the Hancock County Board of Education and the West Virginia Department of Trade and Industrial Education.

The training program, designed to meet standards of the West Virginia Trade and Industrial Education Department, is directed by Russel Sole, coordinator of trade and industrial education in Hancock County and a welding instructor at the school.

H. B. Crow, special representative in the Industrial Relations Department, coordinates the program for Weirton Steel and is chairman of the Hancock County Trade and Industry Advisory Committee.
